FROM WASHINGTON.

THE HOMESTEAD BILL IN THE SENATE.

Remarks of Mr. Johnson, of Tennessee.

The House Passes the Kansas Admission Bill.

Sharp Dialogue between Messrs. Pryor and Potter.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

OUR CUSTOM-HOUSES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 11.

The Secretary of the Treasury communicated to the Senate yesterday the amount of revenue collected and the expenses thereof, together with the number of persons employed. In 1858, the revenue amounted to $42,542,287; the expenses to $3,529,788. The number of employees was 3,041. In 1859, the revenue collected amounted to $49,353,430. Expenses $3,395,030. The employes numbered 2,972.

THE PRINTING INVESTIGATION.

The Senate's Printing Committee has closed its testimony, and will be ready to report in a few days. Several points are made which are interesting to politicians, and among others is the first point of difference between Col. FORNEY and President BUCHANAN.

The testimony, I understand, will show the quarrel to have commenced over the printing of the Post office blanks.

THE COVODE COMMITTEE.

Messrs. VAN DYKE and PLATT are here, and will testify before the Covode Committee to-morrow. Mr. BAKER, Editor of the Pennsylvanian, who was examined last week, admitted that he was receiving a regular salary as an employe of the Philadelphia Custom-House. The Committee desired to know what special duty he performed, but this was a puzzler. He finally answered that he attended to business in Court for the District Attorney. Mr. VAN DYKE, I understand, will ignore his assistance, and deny that he attended to any business connected with the Courts. Mr. BAKER is brother to the Collector, and nephew to Mr. BUCHANAN. Mr. V. is also expected to show up the plan adopted by the Federal officers in Philadelphia to control State politics, for making resistance to which he was dismissed from office.

The Committee to-day examined four persons from New-York, three of whom were policemen. They also testified that Collector SCHELL employed them and some hundred others, three days prior to the last Congressional election, and paid them $10 each, and discharged them again the day after the election. This was done, they stated, on the application of candidates who opposed Messrs. BRIGGS and CLARK.

The Committee have a large number of names of these said to have been thus employed, but deem the sample furnished sufficient. Should they determine to go through with the list, the Committee will visit New-York as a matter of economy.

THE NEW-YORK HOTEL FUND.

Postmaster-General FOWLER was before the Covode Investigating Committee this morning, and testified that he was one of the contributors to the New-York Hotel Fund, as every prominent Democrat in New-York was. He denied that persons had been employed about his office with a view to rendering political service, although in times of election he made it a rule to give a few days' leave of absence when it did not interfere with the proper discharge of the public duty. Neither Mr. BUCHANAN nor any member of his Cabinet had attempted, directly or indirectly, to control the affairs of his office. He conducted them himself, to the best of his ability for the public interests.

Mr. FOWLER was relieved from further attendance on the Committee, and leaves this afternoon for home.

A NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT IN TROUBLE.

Mr. TRAIN, a member of the Committee, telegraphed a statement to the New-York Herald to-day, contradicting that journal's Washington dispatch in Saturday's issue. Mr. SHAW, of the Herald, was summoned before the Committee to-day, to state the source of his information, and failing to appear, an officer has been directed to bring him before the Committee to-morrow, when, I understand, he will give Mr. BUTTERWORTH as his informant.

PRYOR VS. POTTER.

The fifteenth Congressional scene of the present session occurred on the floor of the House to-day, between Messrs. PRYOR and POTTER, and it seems to be pretty well ascertained that a challenge passed before the House adjourned. Mr. HINDMAN is said to have delivered to Mr. POTTER Mr. PRYOR's note, but Mr. POTTER's friends say he will not accept the challenge.

MEXICAN MAILS.

Mr. BUTTERWORTH's Mexican mail steamer project is now pressed upon Congress, but with no hope of success, as members can no longer be led by the lobby.

THE WAREHOUSE TROUBLES.

Secretary COBB has thus far failed to furnish the Committee with the contract and correspondence touching the public warehouses. The Committee, to-day, called for the affidavits and returns of Collector BAKER, of Philadelphia, of the salary paid his brother. The law requires the Collector to make his returns under oath. To-morrow they will call for facts connected with the construction of life-boats for the New-Jersey coast.

A PUBLIC PRINTING-OFFICE.

Mr. HASKIN will endeavor to report a bill, to-morrow, for the establishment of a public printing-office—now regarded as the great reform of the age—not only cutting off a source of corrupt plunder, but saving large sums of money to the Government.

PROSPECTS OF MR. DOUGLAS.

Senator LATHAM is preparing to speak on the Davis resolutions, and will declare his readiness to support Mr. DOUGLAS for the Presidency, if necessary to the success of the party.

It is ascertained that the two delegates to Charleston from Brigadier BOWMAN's District, in Pennsylvania, are for DOUGLAS. One of these resides in Bedford, whence Mr. BOWMAN was imported to Washington. Mr. BOWMAN and Attorney-General BLACK are reported as saying, to-day, that they would not support DOUGLAS, even if nominated.

THE CALIFORNIA EXPRESS.

Great efforts are making by the lobby to defeat the Overland Telegraph bill. Parties are offering to build a line for less than what it would cost to transport the necessary weight of wire across the continent. The bill will pass as reported by Mr. COLFAX.

THE PONY EXPRESS.

A large number of letters and dispatches left here yesterday for the Pony Express to California.

THE KANSAS BILL.

The Kansas bill, which passed the House by a large vote to-day, will go through the Senate without difficulty.

OUR MEXICAN RELATIONS.

Republican Senators freely express the opinion to-day that the Mexican Treaty will be amended and finally ratified.

It is a singular fact that Señor TESARA called on Secretary CASS to know if the Marquis de Habana was a Spanish vessel. The General blandly replied, "My dear Sir, your Government has not intrusted this Department with that information, unless it be contained in the protest you did us the honor to file."

RAILROADS IN WASHINGTON.

A bill was reported to the Senate yesterday, authorizing the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to make connection with the Southern lines by tunnelling Capitol Hill. Meantime the cars will be drawn through the city by horses. This removes what has always been a great nuisance on this line of travel.

ARMY NEWS.

Col. D. S. MILES, of the Second Infantry, will proceed with his regimental staff, on the 1st of May next, to Fort Riley, Minnesota, at which post the head-quarters of the Second Infantry are established. Four companies of the First Cavalry at Fort Riley, under Maj. SEDGWICK, and two companies of the Second Dragoons at Fort Kearney, to be designated by the commanding officer of that post, will compose an expedition to operate against the hostile Kiowas and Camanches. The cavalry will march from Fort Riley on the 15th, and the dragoons from Fort Kearney on the 1st of May for the Pawnee Fork. They will march well armed, and will carry with them an abundant supply of ammunition. A few necessary articles of clothing and equipment for additional horses. They will require, besides, two wagons to each company including the company wagons of each command, will be furnished with means of transportation for 30 days' provisions—five-sevenths of the meal rations to be fresh beef on the hoof. The instructions for the conduct of expedition beyond the Arkansas will be furnished hereafter.

In compliance with paragraph 14, General Orders No. 6, dated Head-quarters of the Army, New-York, March 12, three companies of the Second Infantry, now at Fort Laramie, will march on the 15th of May next for Fort Abercrombie, under the command of Major DAY. One wagon will be allowed for field and staff, two for each company, and a sufficient number to carry 25 days' rations—five sevenths of the meat rations to be fresh beef on the hoof. Major DAY will conduct his command via Fort Randall, at which place he will replenish his supplies and proceed direct to Fort Abercrombie.

Company H, Second Infantry, now at Fort Leavenworth, will march on the 15th for Fort Riley, and on the 25th Companies G. and H. of Second Infantry will march, under command of Brevet Maj. WESSELS for Pawnee Fork, and take post at that place. They will be allowed two waggons to each company, besides the number necessary for transportation of supplies. Brevet Maj. HAYS, Company G., Second Artillery, at Fort Ridgely, now under orders to proceed to Fort Monroe, Va., will take advantage of the first opportunity to come to St. Louis by water. The Assistant Quarter-Master will provide transportation from there. Brevet Maj. WILLIAMS, Company G. Fourth Artillery, now under orders to Fort Monroe, Va., will march by land to Sioux City, from which place transportation by water will be furnished by the Assistant Quarter-Master in St. Louis. Q.

From the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 11.

The President has recognized FRIEDRICH KUHNE, of New-York, as Consul of the Duchy of Saxe Weinigen for the United States; ROBERT BARTH, of St. Louis, as Vice-Consul of the Kingdom of Wurtemberg for Missouri and Illinois, and Vice-Consul of the Duchy of Nassau for Missouri; OSCAR G. PARSLEY as Vice-Consul of Brazil at Wilmington, N. C.; and F. A. HERSCH, as Consul of the Grand Duchy of Oldenburg at Boston.

The Commissioner of Patents has granted an extension of the Morse patent for seven years from to-day, but has not yet prepared a written opinion. It covers the patent of 1846, including the instrument now in use, and the mode of transmission.

The House having requested the President to communicate all the information in his possession relative to the expulsion of Americans from the City of Mexico, and the confiscation of their property by Gen. MIRAMON, the Secretary of State has replied that no information on the subject has reached the Department.

The Kansas bill passed the House by a large majority. Only three from the slaveholding States voted for the bill,—Messrs. Barrett, Etheridge and Webster. An equal number from the non-slaveholding States voted against it,—Messrs. English, Sickles and Scott. Absent or not voting were thirteen Southern and three Northern Democrats, and nine Opposition, including three Southern Americans.

It appears from the files of the State Department that nothing has been effected by our ministers abroad to remove the restrictions on the tobacco trade. The latest communication on the subject is from our late Minister to France, Mr. MASON. This communication is dated August 1858, in which he says that the French Government has no desire to surrender the monopoly and sale of the article.

The French Spoliation bill will come up to-morrow in the House as the special order; also the report of the Committee on Public Expenditures, proposing to reform the printing abuses. Mr. HASKIN has, however, consented to postpone the matter, to accommodate Messrs. CLOPTON and HINDMAN, who contemplate being absent from the City.

The colloquy between Messrs. PRYOR and POTTER in the House to day has led to initiatory steps on the part of Mr. PRYOR for a duel—an invitation having been extended to Mr. POTTER, through a friend, to leave the District, for the purpose of receiving a challenge.

SENATE.

The bill to amend the Patent laws was taken up and rejected by Yeas 19, Nays 19, the Vice-President voting in the negative.

Mr. HALE, of New-Hampshire, (Rep.,) introduced a bill for the protection of witnesses in criminal cases in the District of Columbia.

Mr. PUGH, of Ohio, (Dem.,) from the Judiciary Committee, asked to be discharged from further consideration of the memorial of Hon. DANIEL S. DICKINSON, of New-York, relative to the establishment of a United States District Court at Binghamton, N. Y.

Mr. GWIN, of California, (Dem.,) moved to take up the bill for the transportation of the mails overland to the Pacific.

Mr. GREEN, of Missouri, (Dem.,) opposed the motion. He had to go away, and he desired to express himself on the bill.

Mr. RICE, of Minnesota, (Dem.,) moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads.

Mr. HALE thought the Butterfield route stood in the way of a satisfactory arrangement of the mail service to the Pacific. There was, however, little difference of opinion as to the Salt Lake route. He thought it ought to be considered at once.

After further debate the subject was passed over.

Mr. POLK, of Missouri, (Dem.,) reported a bill for the relief of E. G. SQUIER, late Chargé d'Affaires to Central America.

Mr. HALE introduced a resolution instructing the Committee of Naval Affairs to inquire whether any corporeal punishment has been substituted since the abolition of flogging in the Navy, and by what authority, and what steps have been taken in regard to the recent murder on board the United States sloop-of-war Brooklyn, and what steps may be necessary for the protection of seamen on board of United States and merchant vessels. Adopted.

Mr. MASON, of Virginia, (Dem.,) offered a resolution, which he would call up to-morrow, for the adjournment of both Houses of Congress from the 19th to 30th April.

The Homestead bill was taken up.

Mr. JOHNSON, of Tennessee, (Dem.,) replied to Mr. MASON's remarks of yesterday. He thought it singular that Tennessee Senators were singled out as objects for an attack. The Senator from Virginia seemed to think that the Senator of Wisconsin had thrown a flood of light on the subject yesterday. One's stomach was sick to nausea of this eternal agitation of the Slavery question. He thought that there was no connection between the Homestead and Slavery question. The Homestead bill was a great beneficent, philanthropic, Christian measure, rising above parties, but he believed that if the ten commandments, or the Lord's Prayer, were under consideration, the negro would be introduced somewhere. The country North and South is becoming tired of this eternal agitation of the Slavery question. The homestead principle was introduced 1791 under the Administration of Gen. WASHINGTON, who, he believed, was from the Old Dominion, and he signed the bill. He believed that he was as great a man as any of the modern lights, and preferred following his guidance; JEFFERSON also indorsed the principle, and he preferred being associated with WASHINGTON and JEFFERSON than with those who now represented Virginia. Mr. JOHNSON was quite caustic in his allusions to the Senator from Virginia, and defended the homestead principle at considerable length. In the course of his remarks he pointed out that this principle had been frequently adopted in bills which had been passed during the term of the Senator from Virginia, and yet he had not protested against them; this, he argued, was a want of fidelity on his part, and should disqualify him in the eyes of his constituents. He also read Mr. MASON's votes in past years, to show that he voted for the same principle. Tennessee did not stand here to be rebuked by a Senator from any State; now, as heretofore, she could take care of herself, either in the field or the Council Chamber. The Republican Party being short of capital, had seized upon the Homestead measure, because it was popular; but it originated before the Republican Party existed, and was of Democratic origin. He replied to WIGFALL's remark that poverty was crime, and said: If this were so, the country was full of criminals. Mr. JOHNSON discussed a large variety of topics, and in the course of his remarks, said that CALHOUN was more of a politician than a statesman; he had not the cast of mind to found a great party. He had only established a sect.

Mr. MASON replied. He was surprised that the Senator poured out vials of wrath upon him. He supposed that they were on the same side of the channel, and united by common interest. He had no intention to take the State of Tennessee into his keeping. He supposed that they would act together upon a measure brought forward by the Republican organization for the avowed purpose of breaking down the Southern institutions. He defended himself from the taunts that he had sat silent while bills embodying this principle had passed the Senate. He denied that the principle of the Homestead bill was contained in the legislation of 1850. The policy recommended by the earlier Presidents, and carried into effect in 1850, was entirely different from that embodied in the Homestead bill. The one was designed to reclaim wilderness, and invite population into distant Territories; the latter proposes to give away land for no such purpose. He defended his vote on the Graduation bill, and showed that this bill did not contain the principle of the Homestead bill. He contended that the necessary effect of the latter would be to transplant people from non-slaveholding States to pre-occupy public lands, to the exclusion of the people of Southern States. He was opposed to the whole principle of giving away public lands, and should vote against it.

Mr. WIGFALL, of Texas, (Dem.,) further discussed the subject. He was tired of this twaddle about the people, denied that the Homestead bill was a Democratic measure, and asked: When did it become a part of their platform? It has been adopted by the Republicans, and is designed to cut the throat of Southerners. Anybody who denies that this Government is a compact between States is no Democrat. He reiterated that the Homestead bill constituted a part of the Republican platform.

Mr. PUGH, of Ohio, (Dem.)—Where do you find it in the Republican platform?

Mr. WIGFALL (pointing to Mr. SEWARD and Lord LYONS, who were talking together on one of the sofas)—There it is, talking to Lord LYONS. The British Minister and the platform are together.

Mr. PUGH—I deny that the Republican Platform says anything about the Homestead bill; they have only taken it up according to their habit of picking up whatever they find lying about loose.

Mr. WIGFALL then apologised for referring to gentlemen by name, and then continued his remarks, which were of a very discursive character. He denied that there was any propriety or necessity of settling up territories and creating new States.

Mr. BROWN, of Mississippi, (Dem.,) moved to postpone the subject till Tuesday, as he wished to speak.

Mr. WADE, of Ohio, (Rep.,) was willing, providing they could then obtain a final vote on Wednesday.

Mr. BROWN and others were unwilling to consent to this arrangement.

Mr. DOUGLAS, of Illinois, (Dem.,) urged the propriety of fixing a day for the final vote.

The bill was then recommitted, with instructions to be reported back on Tuesday, and with the understanding that it shall be pressed to a final vote.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 11.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill for the admission of Kansas into the Union.

Mr. MAYNARD, of Tennessee, (American,) said this subject came before the House under different circumstances than it did two years ago. Then the contest was between Border Ruffians and Emigrant Aid Societies; between Sharp's rifles and bowie-knives; blood was then flowing from her wounds and her virgin soil was desecrated. Now all was peaceful. He was satisfied from the argument yesterday of Mr. PARROTT (Delegate from Kansas) that it was his opinion that Kansas has not the required population for a Representative in this House. He opposed the admission of Oregon and Minnesota because their respective Constitutions permitted alien suffrage, and besides, he did not believe Oregon now has a population of fifty thousand. He referred to the Opposition Tennessee platform, in which the extension of the period of probation for foreigners is advocated, and that foreigners not naturalized should be prevented from voting at the elections; on this declaration of principles seven out of the ten members of Congress on this floor were elected. The provisions of the Wyandot Constitution, he argued, are obnoxious to this objection, and come within the category. If a residence of six months is sufficient to entitle foreigners to citizenship, then change the naturalization laws. If this period is too long, declare them citizens the moment they reach the soil, and administer to them the oath of citizenship, so that they may be punished, if guilty of treason, and rewarded if true and loyal to our country and its interests. He moved that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Territories, with instructions to limit the boundaries so as to exclude all lands belonging to the Cherokee Indians. This we owe to the American character, and our treaty faith with this tribe.

Mr. GOOCH, of Massachusetts, (Rep.,) in reply to Mr. CLARK, (Mo.,) denied that the people of Kansas, in the formation of their Constitution, have acted in violation of law. No Congress has the power to say that the people shall not send up a petition asking for admission into the Union. The English Compromise was not an enabling act. It could not take away any of the rights secured under the Constitution of the United States. There was the authority of that Constitution and a precedent for the admission of Kansas; and the people acted precisely as they should have acted. The English bill imposed no restraint on the power of the present Congress. The admission of new States was a matter of discretion. He would go still further and say that, even if he had voted for the English bill, though he would have considered that the most unfortunate act of his life, it would not preclude him from voting for the admission of Kansas under the Wyandotte Constitution. It has been shown that there is sufficient population in Kansas, which has every element to organize an efficient State Government. He answered the objections as to the boundaries, saying that the Indian Territory was protected by a treaty which Congress cannot infringe; and whatever might be the merits of the question with regard to the voters, he thought it would be unfair and unjust to apply to Kansas a principle not extended to other new States. He trusted that Kansas would be admitted into the Union, and thus the strife which has so long existed would be terminated.

Mr. QUARLES, of Tennessee, (Am.,) opposed the bill on the grounds of the including of Indian lands within the boundaries of Kansas, which is in violation of the treaties; that the people should have complied with the English bill, and that the population was not sufficient. Besides, the Wyandotte Constitution was Anti-Republican, according to the definition of the Constitution of the United States, and because it permits foreigners to vote. Having repudiated the English bill Kansas was here without authority of law.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.,) declared himself in favor of the bill as a friend of the people of Kansas. He repudiated the extraordinary speech delivered yesterday by the delegate from Kansas, (Mr. PARROTT,) believing its tendency was to jeopard the admission of the State. It was obnoxious to make a charge of unfairness, and he considered the speech as showing more temper than wisdom, whatever might be its merits as an oratorical production. It might be in the line of his duty to lecture the members of the House.

Mr. PARROTT, interrupting, claimed that he held a seat here by a right equal to that of the gentleman, and asked him to specify the objectionable language.

Mr. COX, resuming, said that Mr. PARROTT had not done justice to the men who undertook here to remove the Lecompton Constitution from the Halls of Congress. The delegate while charging that the English bill was intended to keep Kansas out of the Union, made no exception to his sweeping libel. The intention of some of those who voted for it was to enable the people of Kansas to reject the Lecompton Constitution, and this was his declared purpose. To call the English bill, as did the delegate from Kansas, a mean and false contrivance was unjust to those who stood up in favor of the rights of the people of Kansas. As a man of honor, he was bound to vote for this bill. There was no difficulty with him as to the population of Kansas. He referred to the evidence of the votes and the registry. If the Democrats had had fair play in the election there, the people would not have been thrown under the corrupt rule of the corrupt Republican Party. He would vote for the bill because it was right, and not merely to get rid of the question. When he voted for the English bill, he reserved his discretion. He could vote for Kansas whenever she came here with a Constitution approved by the people. He so stated at the time. He showed that Kansas had complied with the English bill. The enabling act with the census in it was not restrictive. It was only a proposition to Kansas. If she accepted it well and good; if she refused it, very well; she can do as she pleases. Congress can act as it pleases at every stage of the proceedings. It can repeal as well as enact all the substantive parts of the English bill Kansas accepted. He referred to the justification of his vote by his constituents, coming here with double his former majority. In spite of all the vituperation and abuse, and a most unexampled personal contest, he was returned here, and as the crowning act of that triumph he would vote for the admission of Kansas.

Mr. PRYOR, of Virginia, (Dem.)—I rise to a question of privilege. By referring to the Globe of this morning, I find the following report adverting to the scene which occurred here some days since:

> "Mr PRYOR, advancing from the Democratic side of the House to the area where Mr. LOVEJOY stood: The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LOVEJOY) shall not approach this side of the House shaking his fists and talking in the way he has talked. It is bad enough to be compelled to sit here and hear him utter his treasonable and insulting language; but he shall not, Sir, come upon this side of the House, shaking his fists in our faces.
>
> Mr. POTTER—We listened to gentlemen on the other side for eight weeks when they denounced the members upon this side with violent and offensive language. We listened to them quietly, and heard them through; and now, Sir, this side shall be heard, let the consequences be what they may.
>
> Mr. PRYOR—This is the point I make. Let the gentleman speak from his seat, and say all under the rules he is entitled to say; but, Sir, he shall not come upon this side, shaking his fists, and talking in the style he has talked. He shall not come here gesticulating in a menacing and ruffianly manner.
> Mr. POTTER—You are doing the same thing."

Mr. PRYOR—It is due to myself to say that, upon the occasion here described, I did not recognize the presence of the member from Wisconsin, nor did I hear any word from his lips, nor am I singular or peculiar in that lack of recognition of his presence, for by referring to the New-York journals, and those of Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other places, all of which publish separate and distinct accounts of the affair, not a word appears in any of them of his presence, or of any word said by him. However, I find this in the Globe, and I presume I must allow that he did appear, and did speak on that occasion. In order to ascertain, however, what he did say I have had recourse to the manuscript of the Reporters, and I find, Sir, that he has interpolated the record touching our proceedings here, and affecting the record in a most material point. [Here Mr. PRYOR pointed out the corrections made by Mr. POTTER, and which appeared in his own handwriting.] To his remark, "and now, Sir, this side shall be heard," he had added, "let the consequences be what they may." After a remark by Mr. PRYOR, that Mr. LOVEJOY should not shake his fists in their faces, he had interjected, as for himself. "You are doing the same thing now." Again, he added to his (POTTER's) remark, that "the Democratic side could not say where a member should speak, and they shall not say." He would now yield for the member to say whether or not he had made these alterations.

Mr. POTTER, of Wisconsin, (Rep.)—Mr. Speaker, I am very much surprised that the member from Virginia should say that he did not see me on the occasion alluded to; but, Sir, I have no right to say, and shall not say that he did, because I, of course, cannot know it. But I stood, Sir, within a few feet of the gentleman, and after he made the remarks which he has just read relative to Mr. LOVEJOY, coming down into the area, and gesticulating, and shaking his fists, I said, "You are doing the same now;" and I was surprised to find that I was not so reported. I did, therefore, what I suppose every member has a right to do under such circumstances. When I was conscious I had made the remark, and others on this side heard me, I corrected the report in that particular. I claimed and exercised the same right of looking over the reporters' notes, and correcting them that others have done; and I believe the member from Virginia did the same thing; at any rate, the remarks were corrected by some one, judging from the notes I saw. It is perfectly natural to suppose that under such circumstances, and during the confusion of so many speaking, the reporters would not hear distinctly every word, but gentlemen on this side heard me make the remarks as reported in the Globe.

Mr. PRYOR—I did not know the member, and therefore he might have passed before my face without my noticing him. As to what he says about my correcting the report, I did in two instances substitute one word for another, in no respect changing the sense of my remarks, certainly not making it stronger or putting myself in any more heroic attitude. I understand the gentleman was to say that he said then I did in a ruffianly and violent manner advance towards Mr. LOVEJOY. [Laughter from the Republican benches.] Now, Sir, I wish to know if I am to understand further if he intends by that any menace or offense. [Laughter.]

Mr. POTTER—Mr. Speaker, what I meant was this: While the member from Virginia was charging Mr. LOVEJOY, after he had left his own seat, and came down into the area shaking his fists at Mr. LOVEJOY, and was charging him so that it would go to the country with this same offence, if it be an offence, I said, what was a very natural remark. "You are doing the same thing." I deprecated the shaking of fists upon one side as much as the other, and I meant what I said. I stand by what I said; and, as I said before, I consider that a member has a right, under such circumstances, to not only correct his remarks, but to insert any remark which he knows to have been left out; and I put it in because I wanted the report to be correct. That was the only motive, and I would ask the member from Virginia now, if he did not of his own motive erase that remark of mine after it had been put in by the reporters; and I would ask further, what right he had to erase that without consulting me? When I looked over the votes I saw what the gentleman from Virginia had said, but I considered I had no right whatever to alter a word, or even a comma of it, and I would have cut my right hand off before I would have done it. But, Sir, that remark of mine, put in its proper place as I uttered it, was entirely wiped out by the gentleman from Virginia. He erased it in such a way, that neither the reporters nor any other person could have told what the words were. Sir, it was taking a liberty which he had no right to take. It is the right of no member to erase the remark of another member, whether that remark appears in the reporters' notes or not, after a member has corrected his remarks; it is none of another gentleman's business, and he has no right to take the liberty of altering or amending it.

Mr. PRYOR—One word more and I have done with the subject. The gentleman wants to know by what authority I took the liberty, and he imputes the act to me of erasing any remark he had placed there. Sir, I did take that liberty. I felt myself authorized to erase an unwarranted interjection. He says before he would have done that thing—before he would erase what somebody else had put into the manuscript, he would have had his arm cut off, yet he could put in what he did not utter. Sir, the gentleman says he stands by his language. I understand him by that to give me the liberty of construing his remark as I please.

Mr. POTTER—I shall stand by my language, Sir.

Mr. PRYOR—I shall construe his remarks as I please, and whether or not he stands by it the sequel will demonstrate.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, (Rep.,) desired to say that he heard the member from Wisconsin use the language referred to, as reported in the Globe.

Mr. SMITH, of Virginia, (Dem.,) and Mr. GARNETT, severally expressed their views against the bill.

Mr. GROW, of Pennsylvania, (Rep.,) closed the argument in favor of the bill. As to the boundaries, they are the same as the Senate and House have heretofore approved. The area is 85,000 square miles. With regard to the population, each House declared two years ago that Kansas had a population sufficiently large for a State. She has a voting population of 17,150. He also argued that nothing in the proposed boundaries would prejudice Indian rights. It was time to close the old annals, and open a new chapter in the history of Kansas.

Mr. MAYNARD's motion to recommit was disagreed to.

The bill was then passed—134 against 73, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Massachusetts, Adrain, Aldrich, Allen, Alley, Ashley, Babbitt, Barr, Barrett, Beale, Bingham, Blair, Blake, Brayton, Briggs, Buffington, Burch, Burlingame, Burnham, Butterfield, Campbell, Carey, Carter, Case, Clark of New-York, Clark B. Mr. ENGLISH, of Indiana, (Dem.,) said as more than two-thirds of his political friends had voted against the bill, he had voted no.

The bill declares that the State of Kansas shall be admitted into the Union under the Wyandotte Constitution, on an equal footing with the original States in all respects whatever. The boundaries begin at the point on the western boundary of Missouri where the thirty-seventh parallel of North latitude crosses the same; thence west on said parallel to the twenty-fifth meridian of longitude west of Washington; thence north on that meridian to the fortieth parallel of latitude; thence east on said parallel to the western boundary of Missouri; thence south with the western boundary of that State to the place of beginning—provided nothing contained in the Constitution of Kansas shall be construed to impair the rights of person or property now pertaining to the Indians in the Territory, according to existing treaties; nor shall their territory be included with the State until the tribe shall signify their assent to it. Until the next general apportionment, Kansas shall be entitled to one member in the House of Representatives. The remainder of the bill contains the usual land provisions and conditions. Adjourned.

An indignant correspondent of the Nashua (N. H.) Gazette, who signs himself "DAN." says that "Miss Flora Temple, after her great race on the 16th, was so much fatigued and worried that her keepers came well nigh killing her by giving her strong libations to counteract the great perspiration she was in, and when she was led out of a neighboring stable, where she was put up after the race, to be taken to her own, she insisted upon pulling off her blankets and lying down on the sidewalk. Too bad to give poor Flora so much drink as to craze her. The decay of the trotting turf may be truly said to date from the day when Miss Temple gets 'tight,' and insists upon making up her bed on the sidewalk."

Another passenger railroad is to be constructed in Philadelphia, to run from the terminus of the Frankford Road to the Fox Chase.

FROM ALBANY.

Passage of the New-York Tax Levy.

The Railroad Toll Bill in the Senate.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 11—1 P. M.

The bill to fix the term of office of the City Chamberlain was signed by the Governor this afternoon, and has become a law. It was rumored here that a movement would be made to-night by the Common Council of your City to remove Mr. STOUT. Hence the unusual promptness in signing the bill. There was also a rumor that the old Police Commissioners would hold a special meeting to-morrow and appoint Mr. MATSELL Superintendent. To prevent this the new Commissioners took the oath of office to-day, and will take possession of the department to-morrow.

The bill to permit juries to find verdicts for murder in the second degree, and to postpone the execution of those convicted of murder in the first degree until one year after their conviction, was favorably considered in the Senate this evening. If there is time it will pass.

It appears less probable this evening that the Alms house bill will pass.

The Senate is now considering the bill to repeal the act of 1851, releasing tolls on railroads. The amendment pending is to remove the restriction on the fare charged way passengers on the Central.

There is every prospect of a midnight, or perhaps all-night session. The railroad men feel confident of carrying their point, and anticipate their ability to purchase it through the House. LEO.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 11.

Speaker LITTLEJOHN did not vote at all on the New-York Sanitary bill. His vote was recorded in the negative erroneously.

The bill relative to the custodian of public moneys, which passed the Assembly to-day, retains the New-York Chamberlain in office three years.

SENATE.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 11.

The concurrent resolution authorizing and directing the Governor to transmit such laws and documents as he thinks proper to other States was adopted.

The bill to widen Bushwick-avenue, Brooklyn, was reported complete.

The Assembly bill to repeal the Act of 1851, abolishing tolls on Railroads, was made the special order for 8 o'clock this evening.

To authorize the Supervisors of Kings County to build a Court-house.

To amend the act to facilitate the collection of debts against Corporations.

To compel better attendance at offices of County Clerks and Clerks of Courts of Record.

To extend York-street, Brooklyn.

The enacting clause was stricken out of the bill to provide for the improvement of the East River.

The first part of the report of the Commissioners of the Code was presented. Its lucid condensation of statutes was highly commended by the Senate.

To amend the charter of the Hebrew Benevolent Society of New-York;

Relative to School libraries of New-York;

To extend the term of office of New-York Constables; and

To amend the charter of the Hebrew Cemetery Association of New-York.

EVENING SESSION.

The bill to authorize the publication of the revised statutes was laid on the table.

The bill exempting certain property of physicians and surgeons from levy and sale under execution was reported favorably.

Mr. PROSSER's bill for enlarging the locks on the Erie and Oswego Canals, by the application of sliding gates, was taken up in the Committee of the Whole. After a debate, progress was reported, by a vote which indicates that the scheme is dead for the present session.

The bill to abolish capital punishment, except for treason and murder in the first degree, was taken up, but the Committee rose without making any progress.

The Senate then took up the bill repealing the act of 1851 abolishing tolls on railroads.

Mr. BLOOD moved to amend by repealing the 7th section of the Consolidation act restricting the Central Road, so as to put the Central on the same footing with other roads in the State under the general Railroad law.

Mr. RAMSEY opposed engrafting the amendment on this bill. He was prepared to vote for it as a separate proposition.

Mr. HAMMOND favored the amendment. If the bill was introduced as a separate proposition every person knows that it will never pass the House, for those who run the machine there are rabid in their hatred of the Central Road. He argued elaborately to show what inestimable benefit the Central Road had been to the State, and denounced the spirit which animated the lower House as having its origin in personal interests, and being dictated by selfish, and not patriotic motives. He was willing to vote down the whole thing now, for he considered that it never should have been introduced at this late hour of the session; but he would support the amendment as just and proper.

Messrs. BELL and RAMSEY spoke in favor of the bill, and attacked Mr. HAMMOND as false to the pledges he made during the canvass.

MIDNIGHT.

After a long debate, the amendment, removing all restrictions on fares on the Central road, was adopted, by a vote of 14 to 13.

The bill was then reported to the Senate.

A motion was made in the Senate to strike out the amendment, which was lost by a vote of 13 to 15, as follows:

AYES—Messrs. Bell, Fiero, Goss, McGraw, Montgomery, Monroe, P. P. Murphy, Prosser, Ramsay, Richmond, Rotch, Warner and Williams.

NAYS—Messrs. Abell, Blood, Colvin, Connolly, Gardiner, Grant, Hammond, Kelly, Ketcham, Lapham, Manierre, J. M. Murphy, Robertson, Sessions and Spinola.

Before taking the vote on ordering the bill to a third reading, the Senate, at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 11.

The New-York City Tax Levy came up on its final reading.

Mr. WEBSTER moved to recommit, with instructions to strike out the $100,000 for old contracts.

After a warm debate the motion was lost, and the bill passed—76 to 5.

To provide for a 1⅛ mill tax for the support of the Government;

To repeal the act allowing the Central Railroad to charge five cents additional when a ticket was not purchased before entering a train;

In relation to the Colonial history of the State;

To amend the General Manufacturers' Association law;

To authorize the construction of a bridge across the mouth of Croton River.

Mr. FLAGLER moved to take from the table the motion to reconsider the vote defeating the bill to indemnify parties defrauded by the New-Haven Railroad. Lost.

BILLS PASSED.

Relative to the custodian of the public moneys.

To authorize the continuance of East-street, New-York.

In relation to mills.

A motion to reconsider the vote on the bill to extend certain streets in New-York, and confirm the grants of land under water, made in 1857, was lost, and the bill finally defeated.

The Quarantine bill was reported by the Committee. An entire new bill is substituted, naming GEO. W. PATTERSON, JOHN P. CUMMINGS and ROBERT CHRISTIE, Jr., as Commissioners to purchase a location for the Quarantine at Sandy Hook or elsewhere, subject to the approval of the Governor, Comptroller and Attorney-General.

Mr. CONKLING called attention to the fact that the Quarantine bill, reported by the Committee, was an entirely different bill from that referred to them. It was a bill in which ROBERT CHRISTIE and Dr. THOMPSON were interested, and was dangerous in its provisions. It gave them $50,000 for the present purposes of Quarantine, and empowered them to sell property of the value of $100,000, with barely any restrictions. He stated on the authority of Mr. WEED that Hon. GEORGE W. PATTERSON would not accept an office under the bill. It was designed to plant Quarantine on Coney Island, and would cause a rebellion of the people.

Mr. DWIGHT raised a point of order that as the report was improperly before the House, the Speaker has no right to entertain it except by unanimous consent.

The report was therefore rejected for the present.

Mr. VARIANS made a majority report against the Senate bill, fixing the rate of milk freight on the Erie and Harlem Roads.

Messrs. FLAGLER and GUERICK presented a minority report in favor of the bill.

Messrs. PALMER and ODELL opposed the majority report.

Mr. PALMER argued to show the immense traffic now carried on in milk, and the injustice of farmers and dealers being compelled to pay rates on milk four-fold as high as any other species of freight.

Mr. ODELL spoke at length against the majority report.

The majority report was disagreed to, and the bill was sent to the Committee of the Whole.

Several bills of local interest were passed, among them to incorporate the gymnasium of Brooklyn, and the Young Men's Association.

The Kings County Court-house bill came down from the Senate amended, and on motion of Mr. CALLICOT, it was referred to the Brooklyn delegates to report complete. Recess.

The following bills were reported favorably:

To alter the map of New-York, relative to Madison-avenue.

To legalize the acts of the New-York Common Council, relative to filling certain lots.

To counsel the proprietors of tenement houses to provide fire escapes.

To establish the grade of Flatbush-avenue, Brooklyn.

The Senate Claim bills were made the special order for to-morrow afternoon.

To extend St. Felix-street, Brooklyn.

To authorize certain churches of Brooklyn to sell cemetery lands.

To reduce the capital stock of the Sacketts Harbor, Rome and New-York Railroad.

To fix the salary of the Chief Clerk in the Surrogate's Office of New-York.

Relative to the actions, legal proceedings and claims against the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York.

In relation to the Police and Courts of the City of New-York.

Adjourned.

GOSSIP ABOUT LEGISLATION.

THIRD READING OF BILLS—A NEW AND STARTLING PROGRAMME FOR QUARANTINE—PASSAGE OF THE CITY HALL BILL IN THE SENATE—RAILROAD TOLLS—PROSPECTS OF ADJOURNMENT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 11, 1860.

The Senate was mostly engaged on the Appropriation bill last evening. There was a brief Executive session that intervened.

This morning there has been nothing doing in either House but the third reading of bills, and concurrence in amendments. This order of business cannot be laid aside except by a two-thirds vote, and there appears to be little disposition to give way for the introduction of other business.

You will receive a list of the bills read, and whether they were passed or rejected. It is difficult—impossible—to do anything more. Bills are referred to Select Committees to report complete that are, perhaps, entirely harmless. They come back quite another thing and so go to their third reading. Take, for instance, the Quarantine bill, which went to a Select Committee as a mere proposition to transfer possession of the Quarantine establishment from the Commissioners of Emigration to the existing Commission for the removal of Quarantine. It is reported as an act abolishing the present Commission, Messrs. PATTERSON, GREEN and PEABODY, and appointing Mr. PATTERSON, JOHN P. CUMMINGS and ROBERT CHRISTIE, Jr., Commissioners. Those familiar with the gentlemen comprising these two Commissions will not need to be told that abolishing one and constituting another is of itself sufficient to awaken suspicion. But bad as was this feature, those that followed were infinitely worse. The provisions of the new bill give these Commissioners full power to take possession of any property they may want—to buy at such prices as they see fit to pay, and to sell present property in such manner, at public or private sale, as they may think proper. The law, as it now stands, strictly guards against any possible stealing, and yet the Commissioners are of unimpeachable integrity. Why are all barriers broken down, and political adventurers are substituted? I suppose the bill is to pass, as there is money enough in it to grease two-thirds of the Legislature.

The bill to provide for the safe custody of the public money of the City of New-York, and to fix the term of office of the City Chamberlain, was read a third time in the Assembly this morning, and passed, Ayes 82, Noes 28.

The City Hall bill passed the Senate this morning by the following vote:

AYES—Messrs. Bell, Blood, Colvin, Fiero, Gardiner, Goss, Grant, Ketcham, Lapham, McGraw, Manierre, J. M. Murphy, Prosser, Ramsey, Richmond, Robertson, Rotch, Sessions, Spinola, Truman, and Williams—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Connolly, Ferry, and Munroe—3.

I think it will pass the House.

The Assembly bill to repeal the act of 1851, releasing the railroads from the payment of tolls, was announced in the Senate this morning. Senator PROSSER moved its reference directly to the Committee of the Whole, and the motion prevailed. It was then made the special order for this evening, at 8 o'clock. The effort will undoubtedly be made to substitute the Commutation bill, as I wrote you yesterday. It looks doubtful if it succeeds. Senators LAWRENCE and HAMMOND are sick, and they would be for substitution. Senator HILLHOUSE is also absent, but I do not know for what cause. He also would be for the substitute. Senator WILLIAMS, who has been sick heretofore when the Toll bill was under consideration, is again in his seat. He is for the Assembly bill. It is said the pressure upon two or three of the Senators, who have heretofore voted in the Railroad interest, is greater than they can bear, and that they will give way. You will learn by telegraph, before this reaches you, how near these speculations are right.

The nominations made for Police Commissioners were "a surprise party" to a great number of gentlemen "here and hereabouts." It was said that Mr. PILSBURY would not accept, but he will, and give his undivided attention to it.

The belief is strong that that the Governor will veto the City Railroad bills. Their friends feel confident, that if put to the necessity, they can "jump them along over the veto" without exhausting the Treasury.

The adjournment will hardly occur before Monday night. Several of the best jobs are not yet out of the woods. They must be saved, you know, before the jobbers will consent to a dissolution. LEO.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

MORE ARSON CASES.—A man named CHARLES WRIGHT was fully committed by Justice CORNWELL yesterday, to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of arson. The prisoner is charged with setting fire to a tenement house on the corner of Amity and Columbia streets. A small building on South Third-street, between First and Second streets, owned by Mr. MCAVERY and occupied as a cooper's shop, was set on fire Tuesday night and entirely destroyed. Loss $300.

OUT OF THE JURISDICTION.—DANIEL MULLEN, arrested on suspicion of being one of the river thieves concerned in the recent robbery of grain at the Atlantic Basin, was brought before Justice CORNWELL yesterday for examination, when he was discharged on the ground that the offence was committed outside the jurisdiction of the Court.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The annual Spring exhibition of this Society was opened yesterday afternoon, in the Athenæum, corner of Atlantic and Clinton streets, with a small but very choice display of pot and cut flowers—azaleas and fuchsias predominating. The rooms will be open during to-day and to-morrow.

KING'S COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY.—The following persons have been elected as officers of this Society for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Daniel Brooks; Vice-President, C. R. McClelland; Secretary, J. T. Conkling; Assessor, J. H. H. Burge; Treasurer, A. Otterson; Librarian, Geo. I. Bennett.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—A regular monthly meeting of this Society was held Tuesday evening, but no business of public interest was transacted. Mr. ROBERT S. BUSSING has received the regular Association nomination for President. The annual election will take place next month.

THE COURTS.—Circuit Court Calendar for this day: Nos. 27, 40, 45, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70. City Court: Nos. 22, 26, 38, 3, 41, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 58, 59, 60.

At the meeting of the Newark Methodist Conference at Hackettstown, N. J., April 6, a colored man, who had purchased his freedom from Slavery in Virginia, and who was endeavoring to raise money to purchase his children, was permitted to address the Conference, which he did, relating in a few simple words the history of his life. Great interest was awakened in his behalf, and at the conclusion of his remarks a collection was taken up, and $200 presented to the man in aid of the freedom of his children.

LAW REPORTS.

Oyer and Terminer.

SEVERAL PRISONERS ARRAIGNED FOR MURDER AND HOMICIDE—SECOND TRIAL OF JOHN PFROMER FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Before proceeding with the trial of John Pfromer, yesterday, the following prisoners, charged with murder or manslaughter, were arraigned before Judge Ingraham:

John Egan, indicted for the manslaughter of August Levermann. He pleaded not guilty.

Diedrich Dannemann, indicted for the manslaughter of Diedrick Gerken. Also, he pleaded not guilty.

Patrick Murphy, indicted for the homicide of Peter Hall. He pleaded not guilty.

William Dunnigan, indicted on one case of murder, in the killing of William Hickey, on March 23, and on one case of manslaughter in the first degree, in the killing of John Keenan. He pleaded not guilty.

Enos Folkes, indicted for manslaughter, in killing Mary Stewart, pleaded not guilty. The trial of each of the above parties was set down for future days, in this or the next term of the Court.

The case of John Pfromer, on his second trial for killing Charles Sturgis, was next resumed. On Tuesday eleven jurors were obtained, and from the new panel of yesterday the twelfth was soon accepted and sworn. Mr. Waterbury opened the case for the prosecution, and called and examined his witnesses. The defence, conducted by Mr. H. L. Clinton, had examined three witnesses on their side, when the Court adjourned.

This case has been published once in full detail, and has been on two or three other occasions referred to. Pfromer and Schwitzgeble were partners in a coffee and cake restaurant, at No. 36 Bowery. Pfromer's speciality was the making and baking of the cakes, with a general superintendence of the kitchen. Sturgis, who it seems was a rowdy, and the terror of the neighborhood, entered the saloon on the night of the 25th of March, 1859, and renewed a system of annoyance, such as he had often been engaged in before. He threw the sugar about, took money from the till, broke the crockery, and finally demanded to see the baker, that he might thrash him. The kitchen door being locked, he threatened to burst it open, when Fanny McCarthy, a servant in the establishment, opened it and let him in. When he entered the saloon he was accompanied by a man named Kerrigan, who tried to get him away from the kitchen, but without avail. He attacked the baker, Pfromer, and was repulsed. He renewed the attack, when Pfromer took a pistol and shot him. On the first trial, before Judge Davies, in 1859, the jury found Pfromer guilty of manslaughter in the second degree, but a new trial was obtained, on application of the defendant's counsel to the Supreme Court, on the ground of irregular ruling on the part of the Judge. This new trial is now in progress, and will be continued to-day.

General Sessions.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY—GOLD-STEALING.

Conrad Schlegelman, Henry Hartfelder and Peter Meyer were tried for an assault and battery on Albert E. Blenck, at No. 436 Pearl-street, on Feb. 6. Blenck, the complainant, was foreman in the shop where the defendants worked. The question of a strike was raised, and Blenck, while making some remarks in opposition to the strike, received a blow from a bottle, thrown at him by Hartfelder. Some confusion ensued, during which the other defendants attacked Blenck. The Jury convicted them, but also recommended them to mercy. The Recorder sent them to the City Prison for thirty days, to cool their striking propensities.

John Conlan was tried for stealing, on the 27th of August, 1858, five ounces of gold from his employer, Mr. James, manufacturing jeweler, corner of Broadway and John-street. At a late hour the Jury had not agreed on a verdict.

The "Outs and Ins."

CLERK VS. CLERK.

The People ex. rel. Samuel Osgood vs. Thomas F. Peers.—This was an action by the relator in the nature of a quo warranto, to obtain the office of Clerk of the Second District Court. It was averred by Osgood that the Mayor and Aldermen duly appointed him as such clerk on the 14th of November, 1859; and that in pursuance thereof he attempted to enter upon his official duties, but was prevented from so doing by the defendant, who would not vacate the position. The complainant demanded not only the possession of the office, but damages for the long usurpation on the part of the defendant.

In response to the allegations of the plaintiff, Peers denied that the relator (Osgood) had any claim to the position, alleging that the appointment set up in the complaint was made in the absence of the Mayor and the proper number of the members of the Board of Aldermen, and that, in consequence, it was no appointment whatever, and did not give the relator any title to the position. It was also averred that Peers was appointed in 1851, his term of office running until 1847, and that in that year it was extended still another six years by the act of the Legislature, under which he now claims the place.

The cause was now tried in the Supreme Court, before Justice Balcom, who, after the evidence was all in, gave judgment pro forma for the defendant, holding that the plaintiff had not shown sufficient title to the office.

James T. Brady, for plaintiff; D. D. Field, for defendant.

Suit Against the Second-avenue Railroad Company.

A THRICE-TOLD TALE.

Anthony Delchant vs. The Second-avenue Railroad Company.—This is the third trial of this action, on both the former ones the jury having disagreed. The case is on again before Judge Hilton, in the Common Pleas, and will probably consume a day or two in the trial.

The plaintiff was a butcher, having a place of business up town, and was driving his horse and cart down the line of the defendants' railroad, about 5 o'clock on the morning of the 21st of July, 1857, in the usual course of his business. The defendants had been repairing their track in some manner at the junction of Catharine and Pearl streets, and had left holes and piles of stone there, as alleged by the plaintiff. As plaintiff was passing that point, one of defendants' cars came along, and in such close proximity that the plaintiff had not time to get out of the way unless the car was stopped. He testified that he cried out to the driver to stop, but that he did not, but driving on at the usual speed came in contact with the plaintiff's cart, throwing him out upon a pile of stones, injuring him to such an extent that he has not yet recovered from the effect, but, as he believes, will always be an invalid in consequence. He also testified that at that time he had on hand about $200, which was consumed by the expenses of his long confinement, and that his business was wholly ruined by his necessary neglect.

The defence is that the plaintiff, if injured as alleged, was injured in consequence of his own negligence, and not by the negligence of the driver of the car, or of the Company. Case still on.

John H. Trapp for plaintiff. J. H. Platt and John Sleeson for defendants.

Vulcanized India-Rubber Car Springs.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT, DISTRICT OF NEW-JERSEY, PATERSON, N. J.

APRIL 10.—Chas. Goodyear and the New-England Car Spring Co. vs. The Elastic Cone Spring Co.—His Honor Judge Dickerson, U. S. Judge for the District of New-Jersey, has granted an injunction against the Elastic Cone Spring Co., at the suit of the New-England Car Spring Co., restraining the Elastic Cone Spring Co. from manufacturing, using, or selling Vulcanized India-rubber Car Springs; it having been clearly proved that they were infringing the patent of Charles Goodyear, the exclusive right to use which, in the manufacture of springs, being owned by the New-England Car Spring Co. The case was argued on March 30.

For plaintiffs—Chas. M. Keller, of New-York.

For defendants—Joseph P. Bradley, of Newark, Ex Chancellor Williamson.

From New-Mexico.

INDIAN OUTRAGES—AN AMERICAN LADY CAPTURED.

A letter from New-Orleans to the St. Louis Republican says:

"Since my last letter, the Indian news from New-Mexico, as well as Arizona, is stirring indeed. The Pinals, a few days since, took captive Mrs. J. H. Page, an American lady, and a Mexican servant girl, living in the Sonoita Valley, in this Territory, and succeeded in escaping with them to their mountain fastnesses. The circumstances of the capture I have not learned. Capt Ewell and two companies of dragoons are in pursuit, but at latest advices had not succeeded in overtaking them. With the present small military force in our Territory, it is impossible to prevent these outrages, especially as long as the Indians are allowed to roam at pleasure over the country.

"A letter which I received by the last Santa Fé mail, from a prominent and very influential citizen of New-Mexico, who is at the present time attending Court at Santa Fé, encloses the following, received by him from his home, which is some six miles south of Albuquerque. From this statement of facts there is evidently something wrong in the management of the military department of New-Mexico.

"'We are all well and doing well, but mightily afraid of the Navajos. They are getting very saucy. They have run off the mules of the wealthy Mexicans who were herding on this side of the mountain for safety—about 800 head. They got back some, but so broken down they could not travel. A part of the mules they took from one ranche, not three miles from our house. Two companies of troops (United States mounted,) started in pursuit of them, succeeded in passing them, and concealed themselves at the crossing of the river, waiting for the Indians to cross. The Indians, on their way to the river, killed three men and two women, besides taking one woman captive. They then passed directly between two companies of troops, and escaped. These gallant soldiers, and defenders of their country, ascertained this fact in the morning, after light, by viewing the trail of the successful marauders. The Company of Mexicans that went out from here into the Navajo country had great difficulty in getting back—they losing two of their company. They succeeded in bringing ten Navajo women as captives, and this is one reason I have more fear, as they will have their revenge whenever and wherever they can. They have been so successful thus far, their success will make them more bold.'"

FATAL DUEL IN JEFFERSON TERRITORY.—The Rocky Mountain News gives the particulars of the late duel between Gov. BLISS, of Jefferson Territory, and Dr. STONE, member of the Legislature, which resulted in the death of the latter. The first offence was given by Gov. BLISS, in a toast at a dinner-party, and, singular enough, considering the time and place, was deliberate, and designed as a personal reflection and insult. This was avowed upon the spot, and of course it only remained for the parties to settle the terms of the meeting. These were: Shot guns, loaded with a single ball, distance thirty paces, time 3 o'clock in the afternoon; place, the Highland side of the Platte River. The report of Dr. STONE's gun followed immediately the word "fire." Mr. BLISS was an instant later, and perfectly distinct. Dr. STONE fell to the ground, supposed to be mortally wounded, the ball of his opponent entering the left thigh, penetrating the bladder and passing through his entire body. The ball of Dr. STONE struck the ground some ten feet in advance of his opponent. Dr. STONE declining a second fire, the parties were then removed from the ground. It is stated that the duel was witnessed by from 600 to 800 spectators, who were very quiet and orderly, and dispersed immediately after seeing the result.

WEDNESDAY, April 11—P. M.

The week's later news from Europe published this morning, to the effect, financially, that a larger demand for Money at 4 ₱ cent. is experienced in London, with the prospect of an advance by the Bank of England to 4½ ₱ cent., was unfavorably construed on the Stock Exchange early in the day. But this impression soon passed off when the Brokers came together at the regular Board, and prices began to display their accustomed strength, as of late. The probability is, however, that in an advancing state of the Foreign Exchanges at this season of the year, the effect of such accounts would have been more decided. But they come at a time when little or no Specie is going forward, and when its active export is still kept back by the continued heavy movement of Cotton from the Southern ports. The return of the latter, for the present week, is 139,000 bales, according to our usual authority,—the circular of Mr. WRIGHT,—while another party figures up 164,000 bales, which gives from seven to eight million dollars in Exchange on a single week's export. Bills on London, in this market, are quoted to-day 108⅞@108⅞ ₱ cent., the closing rates for the Arabia's mail, with only a moderate trade demand, notwithstanding the free facilities offered for the conversion of the bills receivable of the Importers into cash, at from 5½ to 7 ₱ cent. per annum discount. At some of the leading Banks we hear of a good offering of trade paper this week, while the Discount Brokers outside report a smaller supply of strictly prime bills, the shortest being taken up at 5@5½ ₱ cent. To the Stock Brokers, Money comes easy at 5@6 ₱ cent., the inside figure being quoted to us by most of the leading firms to-day as the rule.

The Share List, at the early Board, opened at 78 ₱ cent. for New-York Central, (after some Street sales at 77⅞@⅞,) and the price and demand strengthened through the day, until sales were made, in the afternoon, at 78⅞ ₱ cent.; the final price, 78½ ₱ cent. Erie shares rose to 13⅞ ₱ cent., and most of the Western list was ¼@½ ₱ cent. stronger than yesterday, although the additional returns of the first week's traffic in April are not much more than equal to the same week last season. The figures are almost identical on the Galena, and also on Rock Island, though, in explanation, it is stated that the returns include one working day less than last year. A good return is made by the Illinois Central—over $12,000 increase; and yet this stock was the least buoyant of the list. A firm feeling obtained in Michigan Central, Michigan Southern, and Cleveland and Toledo. Among the Coal Stocks, Reading and Delaware and Hudson were a fraction easier than yesterday, while Delaware and Lackawanna rose to 90 ₱ cent. ex dividend, sales. There was more firmness in Pacific Mail shares, and 102⅞ ₱ cent. paid at the close. As the market gradually recovers from the heavy realizations on this stock made some days ago—to the extent, it is said, of 6,000 shares by a single party—a disposition is evinced to move the price upward again. Panama was also stronger, though no speculative activity is shown in it. Nearly all the City Bank shares are firm and in request on small investment orders.

In Federal, State and Railway Bonds, there was a large business in Missouris, with a fraction off, as compared with the best sales of yesterday. Tennessees were 90⅛@⅜, a fair amount of sales; and Californias 89, in demand. At the early Board 102 ₱ cent. was bid for United States Fives of 1874 coupons, and this afternoon 102¼ ₱ cent., without bringing out the stock. A private purchase of $30,000 or $35,000, we understand, was made between the Boards. For the Bonds of the Michigan Southern Company, prices were higher for the Sinking Fund and lower for the Second Mortgage. Eries of 1883 fell back ½c. ₱ cent., while the Second and Fourth Mortgage and the Unreserved prices were firmer. The general market for both Bonds and Shares left off firm.

Messrs. WRIGHT & Co. remark:

"Receipts for the week at all the ports amount to 75,000 bales, against 93,000 last week, and 60,000 in the corresponding week last year. The excess reaches 751,000 bales, which may probably prove the maximum excess of the season, as we know by telegraph that the receipts at all points have got down to small figures. Exports for the week are large—say 139,000 bales, of which 111,000 are to Great Britain, being the largest week's export of the season, or of any previous season. To France the excess is increased this week, and now amounts to 151,000 bales. To other foreign ports there is a decrease of 68,000. This deficit cannot now be made up; the quality required does not exist in the country. The purchases will have to be made in Liverpool, and will cause an increased demand for export in that market.

Author of "The Scarlet Letter," &c.

OPINIONS OF THE ENGLISH AND AMERICAN PRESS.

The cultivated reader will mark in it an advance and an expansion. It is the best book yet written by the author of "The Scarlet Letter."—London Critic.

One of the most remarkable novels 1860 is likely to give us, whether from English, French or American sources. Such an Italian tale we have not had since Herr Andersen wrote his "Improvisatore."—London Athenæum.

Never before has Italy inspired a romance-writer with a work so composite in its elements, so perfect in their organic harmony.—London Spectator.

The story possesses a seductive enticement, which few will be inclined to resist. It abounds in sweet and gentle episodes, illustrative of Italian life, vivid descriptions of some of the most celebrated works of art, and profound discussions of æsthetic principles.—New-York Tribune.

Many of the scenes are harrowing in their intensity of excitement. * * * Every way worthy of the high and peculiar fame of the writer.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Youthful with the youth of nature, and glorious with the golden lustre of art.—N. Y. Saturday Press.

"The Marble Faun" is a book which might well make a new era in novel writing. It is in all respects superior to anything which has come from Mr. Hawthorne's pen.—Boston Sat. Express.

Fascination is the word which describes the emotion the reader of "The Marble Faun" will experience.—Boston Sat. Gazette.

The story, as a story, is managed with singular artistic power.—Phila. Sat. Post.

One of the few modern books which the world will not willingly let die. * * * Full of feeling and fancy.—Phila. Press.

As an exertion of poetic and imaginative power, it takes as high a flight, and certainly a far wider sweep, than any of his former efforts.—Phil. North American.

No such living picture of Italy has ever been transferred to paper.—Buffalo Courier.

In many respects this will be considered the most charming of Hawthorne's romances.—Springfield Republican.

Whether viewed as a work of fiction, or as one of artistic or literary merit, we are bold to assert that neither "The Scarlet Letter" nor any other of Mr. Hawthorne's writings will bear comparison with "The Marble Faun."—Cambridge Chronicle.

We believe it to be surpassed in fascination by no romance ever written. * * * There is a charm in every line.—Lynn Reporter.

* * * A prose poem, bearing the seal of inspiration on every page.—Welcome Guest.

Mrs. Jameson has probably done more than any other writer to familiarize the public mind with the principles of art; and her perception of the inner spirit of a great work was so thorough, that its mere statement was eloquence. Her style has a richness, energy and vividness corresponding to the clearness and fullness of her intellect and the earnestness and warmth of her heart. She could write nothing which was not readable; and the books in which she discusses social and moral questions are not only among the most valuable, but among the most popular books in the literature of philanthropy and reform.—Boston Transcript.

We are credibly informed that during the few weeks allowed to the English Publishers, in advance of the issue of the work in this country, 30,000 copies have been sold!

In further evidence of its great popularity we need only say that, up to the present time, we have been unable to furnish the book as rapidly as ordered.

We invite attention to the following notices:

The authors have turned their intellectual wealth to the best purposes. Such books are better than hundreds of mere controversional sermons.—R. Shelton Mackenzie.

"Say and Seal" is indeed a true, beautiful home book, that will be read with delight and profit by tens of thousands of our people.—Evening Bulletin.

A delightful book it is.—The Press.

It is superior to "Wide, Wide World."—North American.

For sale by booksellers generally, or will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price by the Publishers, either in money or postage stamps.

STEINWAY & SONS

PATENT OVERSTRUNG GRANDS AND SQUARE PIANOS

Are now considered the Best Pianos manufactured. Opinion of nearly all the greatest and most prominent Musicians and Artists regarding these Instruments:

The undersigned, having personally examined and practically tested the improvement in Grand Pianos, invented by H. STEINWAY, in which the covered strings are overstrung above those remaining, do hereby certify:

1. That as a result of the said improvement the voice of the Piano is greatly improved in quality, quantity and power.
2. The sound by Steinway's improvement is much more even, less harsh, stronger, and much better prolonged, than that realized in any other Piano with which we are acquainted.
3. The undersigned regard the improvement of Mr. Steinway as most novel, ingenious and important. No Piano of similar construction has ever been known or used, so far as the undersigned know or believe:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Senate rejected the bill to amend tne Patent Laws by a vote of 19 to 19, the Vice-President voting against it. The bill relative to the transportation of the mails to California was taken up, but, after a brief conversation, was laid aside, and Mr. Johnson, of Tennessee, spoke at some length in favor of the Homestead bill. He was replied to by Mr. Mason, who was followed by the irrepressible Wigfall on the same side. The bill was finally made the special order for Tuesday next, with the understanding that a vote would then be taken. The Kansas Admission bill engaged the attention of the House. Mr. Maynard, of Tennessee, argued against the bill, alleging that the Territory lacked the proper population; objecting to the clause of the Wyandotte Constitution which requires as a title to citizenship a residence of only six months; and insisting upon the exclusion of the Cherokee reserves from the boundaries of the State. He was succeded by Mr. Gooch, of Massachusetts, in oppositisn to, and Mr. Quarles, of Tennessee, in support of his argument. Mr. Cox, of Ohio, who had voted for the English bill, avowed his determination to sustain the present measure; referring to his declaration at the period of his former vote, that he should be for the admission of Kansas, whenever it came with a Constitution approved by its people. Mr. Pryor arose to a question of privilege predicated upon a report of the disturbance on the occasion of Mr. Lovejoy's recent speech. He objected to the published reports, as containing remarks of Mr. Potter addressed to him; whereas he had not only not heard Mr. Potter speak at the time, but was unaware of his presence. A conversation marked with extreme acerbity ensued between the two gentlemen; resulting in an intimation from Mr. Pryor that his colloquist should be held to account elsewhere. Mr. Grow then closed the debate by a speech epitomizing the points urged by the friends of the bill; and then, upon the vote being taken, the bill was passed by a vote of 134 to 73. Mr. English explained his reason for voting in the negative.

Our Arizona correspondent, writing from Tubac, gives details of depredations committed by the Apache Indians. On the 15th ult. they seized and carried off a Mrs. Page and a little Mexican girl from the Santa Rita Mountains, and killed two wood-choppers at Arinaca, besides driving away a large quantity of stock. Mr. Page, the husband of the kidnapped woman, gave the alarm that the Indians were in the vicinity, and forthwith dispatches were sent off to Fort Buchanan, which had the effect of starting Capt. Ewell, with 25 men, on the trail of the fugitives. Mr. Lothrop, of the Sonora Emigration and Mining Company, when intelligence of the depredations reached Tubac, immediately assembled the Mexican population in the Plaza, and persuaded many of them to assist in the pursuit. Dispatches which he subsequently received from Lieut. Randall, at Fort Buchanan, induced him to set out immediately for that place with his force, which consisted of Mexicans and Papago Indians to the number of 57 men. The trail had been followed until it was evident that the Indians had divided into two parties, each taking one of their prisoners with them; but the rescue of the latter had not been effected. An Indian prisoner, however, had been sent by Capt. Ewell into the Pinal country, with instructions to see that Mrs. Page and the little girl were brought to the Cañon del Oro within eight days, to be exchanged for other prisoners in his hands.

The following bills were passed in the State Senate: To authorize the erection of a new City Hall in New-York; to amend the act facilitating the collection of debts against corporations. The Assembly Railroad Toll bill was considered at the evening session. In the Assembly, the New-York Tax Levy was passed by a vote of 76 to 5. There were also passed the bill authorizing a 1⅜ mill tax for the support of the Government, and the act relative to the custody of public money in New-York City. A bill was reported naming three Commissioners to locate Quarantine. It was laid upon the table, on the ground that it was a substitute for, rather than a report upon, the bill originally committed.

The ship Jacob A. Westervelt, belonging to H. L. Rich & Co.'s line of Liverpool packets, took fire yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, while lying at anchor in the North River. Her passengers and crew were speedily removed by the Harbor Police steamboat Magnolia, which was fortunately in the vicinity pulling up shadpoles, but the vessel and her cargo, which was made up of breadstuffs and provisions, valued in the aggregate at $175,000, was almost entirely destroyed. The Westervelt is valued at $60,000, and is insured in this City. Her cargo is said to have been insured in Europe.

The second trial of Pfromer, for the homicide of John Sturgis, was resumed yesterday before Judge Emott, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. The case for the prosecution was finished, and three witnesses for the defence were examined. The Court then adjourned till to-day. In the General Sessions two rather important cases were tried before Recorder Barnard, in the former of which, for assault and battery, the defendants were convicted, while in the latter, for an alleged robbery of scrap gold, the jury had not agreed at a late hour.

The Board of Health convened yesterday, on the call of the Mayor, for the purpose of taking action on the recommendation of the Commissioners of Health, to appoint Dr. Lewis A. Sayre "Agent of the Board of Health." The Doctor was confirmed by a vote of 19 to 8, after a spirited debate, which, however, had no special reference to him.

The Republican Central Committee, at their meeting last evening, passed a series of resolutions strongly remonstrating against the passage of the City Railroad bill, and calling upon the Governor to veto the measure. A Committee was appointed to convey the remonstrance to the seat of Government.

The Commissioners of Emigration, at their regular weekly meeting yesterday, adopted a resolution declaring that the salary of Dr. Jerome, the Physician of the Marine Hospital, ought not to be paid, as the office has virtually been abolished. One thousand alien passengers have arrived during the week.

In the Stock Market, yesterday, the demand for most of the Railway shares was firm, and prices closed ¼ ℘ cent. better than on Tuesday. Pacific Mail was also ½@¾ ℘ cent. firmer. Exchange quiet at 108¼@⅜ on London. Discounts 5@5½ ℘ cent. on very short, and 5½ to 7 ℘ cent. on longer date paper. Temporary Loans to the Stock-Brokers mostly done at 6 ℘ cent.

Flour and Wheat continued in active demand at buoyant prices. Corn and Cotton were less active. The transactions in Provisions and Groceries were restricted. Hay, Hops, Tobacco, Linseed Oil and Tallow were in request at uniform rates. Naval Stores, Metals, Whalebone and Whisky were lightly dealt in. The public sale of Teas passed off rather spiritlessly. Freights were quiet, ship-owners having advanced their asking rates. There were 461 vessels of all classes in port.

The live stock markets have been supplied with about as many animals of the different kinds as during last week. The receipts at all the regular City yards, for the week ending yesterday, numbered: 3,768 beef cattle, 155 milch cows, 1,077 veal calves, 4,498 sheep and lambs, and 4,222 live hogs. Total, 12,520; total last week, 13,720. At yesterday's general weekly market beeves were rather dull of sale, and prices declined about ¼c. ℘ lb., estimated live weight. Milch cows were a drug, and the yards were still full last evening. Veal calves sold ½c. ℘ lb., live weight, lower than last week. Sheep and lambs declined 25c.@50c. ℘ head, at which rate the pens were about cleared out last night. Live hogs advanced about ⅛c. ℘ lb., live weight, with a moderate demand.

The President and Congress.

The Judiciary Committee, to whom Mr. Buchanan was so anxious to get his case transferred, has delivered judgment upon his plea in abatement, and overruled it with considerable emphasis. Mr. Hickman's majority report, presented to the House of Representatives on Monday, discusses the points of the President's protest seriatim, and disposes of them all with a facility and a clearness which, we venture to assert, were not surpassed even in the case of Judge Peck, in which Mr. Buchanan found so much consolation. The document has but one fault, and that is the occasional severity of its tone; but for this Mr. Buchanan has himself to thank. To have either examined or replied to so shrewish, undignified and ill-tempered a document as his message to the House, in the language of judicial calmness and moderation, would, perhaps, have been the wisest and most becoming course to pursue; but it is a course which, under such circumstances, ordinary mortals, of whom Congressional Committees are generally composed, find it extremely difficult to adopt.

The Report proves from the Constitution that not only is Mr. Buchanan not in the enjoyment of any such special immmunities as he claims for himself, and which exempt his conduct from investigation at the hands of either House, but that he has actually less privileges than any private member of Congress. They enjoy freedom from arrest during the session, upon all charges except treason, felony and breach of the peace. He enjoys nothing of the kind, but stands before the law in precisely the position of a private individual. He claimed "legislative capacity" for himself in his jeremiad of last week, and alleged that as a "coördinate branch of the Government" he was the equal of the House. The report shows that the Constitution deprives him by implication of all legislative power, by expressly lodging it in the hands of "the Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives."

Touching upon the general right of the House to inquire into the state of the Administration, the report travels, though of course with much greater amplification, over the ground adopted on this point by ourselves in discussing the President's Message a few days ago, and alleges, what nobody but Mr. Buchanan would ever have thought of denying, that this power of inquiry, without the presentation of specific charges, is open to less question than perhaps any power which it has ever claimed or exercised, and that to charge it with the duty of legislating, without enabling it to supply itself with such information as it might require touching the state of the country, would have been a mockery. Moreover, some such power is essential, in order to enable it to impeach the President, which Mr. Buchanan confesses it is authorized to do. But he insists that, whenever it does do so, it shall do so without any preparation, and without taking any evidence. It must not—according to him—open its lips about the conduct of the person to be impeached until the day of trial arrives, and it is called on for its proofs. That this would be an excellent mode of making every officer of the Government perfectly irresponsible, by rendering all impeachment impossible, we freely admit; and if Mr. Buchanan finds it convenient to protect his doings in office from all examination, we strongly recommend him to defend, with as much vigor as he can muster, this new theory of the powers and functions of the House of Representatives.

For an old public functionary who had served five terms in the House to assert that the appointment of Mr. Covode on the Committee of Inquiry was, because he was the mover of the resolution for its appointment, "a violation of the principles of universal justice," was, as we remarked at the time, a tolerably cool proceeding, considering that it was in rigid accordance with all parliamentary usage since parliaments first began, and is, moreover, the only way of making any inquiry a reality. To put on a committee members who did not desire its appointment, and are utterly indifferent about the matters which it proposes to investigate, is a proceeding, the extreme folly of which was fully recognized several centuries ago, and it has consequently never been resorted to since. Common sense, parliamentary practice and common justice prescribe the appointment on all committees of inquiry of the person who moves for it, and is therefore most interested in making it full and effectual, as the only thing which can prevent committees from becoming a sham. The Hickman report cites one very apposite precedent, which we should think Mr. Buchanan would find extremely disgusting. When a committee was appointed to prepare articles of impeachment against Lord Melville, Mr. Whitbread, who made the motion, was the first person named upon it.

Nobody who cares much for the good name of the country can avoid seeing in this whole affair abundant matter for regret and humiliation. One of our oldest public servants no sooner reaches the summit of his ambition, and is placed in the highest office of the State, than grave suspicions begin to be entertained of his own official purity and that of his subordinates. His strenuous and very affecting lamentations over the corruption of others do not appear to have had the least influence in quieting these dark doubts. The more he preaches, and the oftener he turns up his eyes in holy indignation, the more people whisper and insinuate. Finally, the gossip of the clubs and caucuses and newspapers shapes itself into a motion for an inquiry, and the public looks to Mr. Buchanan for that course of action which all its experience of human nature leads it to expect of an honest man accused of knavery, of a gentleman whose honor is impeached, of a great officer of a great State who is charged, after a long and brilliant career, with some of the baser breaches of his high trust,—either the fierce eagerness for investigation of a sensitive man, or the contemptuous silence of a proud one. It finds itself forthwith treated to a letter, half of which is filled with the quibbles of a small lawyer, and the other half with the tearful vituperation of a common scold.

Austrian Annexation.

There are annexations and annexations; and though the same term be applied to all transactions of this nature, they differ from each other not seldom, quite as widely as the jurisprudence of Rob Roy from that of Jeremy Bentham. Lord Byron, when he permitted himself to abstract a single golden hair from that gleaming strand of Lucrezia Borgia's "gory locks," which has at once horrified and delighted so many romantic visitors to the Ambrosian Library, mildly stated in his diary that he had "obtained" the fair but formidable relic. Probably the respectable authorities of Milan felt disposed to label the proceeding with a different name.

Many organs of public opinion in England are now denouncing that in Europe which they applaud in Asia; and while they recognize in the annexation of Oude or the Punjaub merely another forward step in the pacification and tranquillization of India, find in the annexation of Savoy a fearful precedent of ambitious ravenings yet to come; the first mutterings of a thunder-storm which threatens the edifice of Western public law with ruin. This, of course, is perfectly natural and to be expected. Just as natural, and just as much to be expected, is the language used by Austria on the same subject; but the contrast between the mote which Francis Joseph sees in the eye of France, and the beam which all Europe has once and again failed to discover in the eye of Austria, is striking enough to deserve a moment's attention.

Austria, we are now informed, has replied to the circular note of France on the question of Savoy, "that she certainly does not approve of annexations of this kind, but that since Europe stood by when other annexations were effected, she does not see what she has to do with the annexation of Savoy." The answer is sufficiently tart; and it is to be hoped that Prussia and England, at which Powers it was principally aimed, have felt the proper amount of conscience-stricken anguish at finding their own devices thus recoil upon themselves. But Francis Joseph, like most angry men, has a short memory. If the indifference of Europe to the annexations which are gradually raising Sardinia to the rank of a great Power has been of woes unnumbered to the Hapsburg princes "a direful Spring," the like indifference on a previous occasion enabled Austria to "round her territories" as neatly as France now requests, with all the politeness possible to the strongest of States, to be allowed to round her own. When peace once more reigned throughout Europe in 1815, by grace of the Holy Alliance, and justice was everywhere done by apostles in embroidered coats, Russia, Austria, and Prussia, reciprocally anxious to spare each other the suffering of trying to digest the last rich morsel of the well-carved ex-Kingdom of Poland, set apart the city and territory of Cracow in Gallicia, "to be regarded as a free, neutral and independent city." Three special treaties to this effect between the three Powers, all signed May 3, 1815, were embodied in the European Congressional Treaty of June 9, 1815, and fortified with this very explicit clause: "No armed force shall ever be introduced into the city of Cracow under any pretext whatever."

This being the "public law" of Europe, things went well with Cracow, the Cracovians, and the Cracoviennes for more than thirty years. In January and February, 1846, a rumor pervaded Prussian Poland, or Posen, and Austrian Poland, or Gallicia, that "evil-disposed persons" were preparing trouble for the powers ordained of Metternich. The Prussian Government, being reasonably honest, went to work, looked up the agitators and suppressed them. The Austrian Government, liking "certain kinds of annexation," and anything which might lead to them, did nothing at all, but in all probability to foment the very little mischief which really was lurking among its Gallician subjects. No outbreak of any kind, however, had taken place, when on the 18th February, by way of maintaining the public law of Europe, which had forbidden any such proceeding, an Austrian army entered Cracow to the consternation of the inhabitants. On the 19th, martial law was proclaimed in this independent city by this "law-abiding" monarchy. On the 21st, a tavern-keeper got up some slight brawl in the streets, the civic authorities being paralyzed by this audacious invasion of their rights. Thereupon the Austrian troops fired into the streets, and killed several persons. On the 22d they shut the churches up, and one man was killed for walking out of his house when an Austrian sergeant had bidden him stay at home. Probably this last tremendous encounter alarmed the brave Colin, who at 5 P. M. of the same day marched out with all his army, carrying with him every official in the City, from the Corporation to the street-sweepers. Such a dispensation might be hailed in New-York with blessings both loud and deep; but in Cracow they did not enjoy the advantages of universal suffrage; and as they, consequently, had some slight confidence in their City Government, the citizens, 180,000 in number, were naturally filled with alarm at being thus left without a constituted authority. They were in this state when half a dozen Gallicians came in from the country, passing the army of Colin on their way, and began to issue communist proclamations, and to demand an army to march against Austria. Forty men followed these fanatics; they left the city on Colin's track; Colin retreated before them, and declared Cracow to be marching upon the Empire! A procession of monks and nuns following the Austrians was accordingly attacked by the troops, who won a glorious victory with no loss of life on their own side.

These proceedings, of course, roused Prussia and Russia. Austria having opened the door, the Russians came in to Cracow on the 2d of March; the Prussians on the 7th; but both soon after abandoned the city to the returning Austrians, who declared Cracow "annexed" to the Empire of the Hapsburg-Lorraines. Cotemporaneously with this "annexation," the Prefects in Gallicia issued placards offering a reward to the peasantry for the "disaffected" gentry of the province, dead or alive. By the 12th of March, 1478 proprietors, including sixty or seventy priests and many ladies, were massacred and their murderers rewarded. Thus Austrian Poland was "pacified;" and thus "independent Cracow" was "annexed." This being the kind of annexations which Austria likes, it is hardly surprising she should disrelish such tame and popular "annexations" as that of Savoy.

Nor ought we to be astonished that the Savoyard annexation is not much more to the taste of the British Conservatives, seeing that no serious debate, even on the Cracovian annexation took place in the British Parliament till Aug. 17, nearly six months afterwards, when Mr. Hume and Mr. Milnes in the Commons, and Lords Beaumont and Kinnaird in the Peers, protested against these "breaches of humanity and of treaty stipulations," and moved an inquiry why a British Consul had never been sent to this most unfortunate "protected State." Then the Duke of Wellington stated that he had heard of all this in April, being "then a member of the Council," but "couldn't remember whether the subject had been discussed." The Duke also thought there "must have been, or would be, some way of explaining the conduct of Austria;" and then volunteered the gratuitous assertion that "if ever a breach of a treaty was justifiable, it was in this case!" Moreover, the "noble Earl, then Secretary for Foreign Affairs, felt assured, from what he knew of Prince Metternich's character," that what had happened must have been all right and proper. Even Lord Palmerston was convinced that the "mild and benevolent Austrian Government" could have had no hand in anything cruel or unjust. And so Cracow was annexed, with the general applause of all the "conservative" world—and remains so annexed until this day.

Carrying Deadly Weapons.

A young girl, a seamstress, dependent upon her daily labor for her livelihood, was crossing the Park yesterday morning, on her way to her work, when she was overtaken by Mr. Daniel McKay, a book-keeper at No. 405 Broadway. In passing her, McKay made a spring in order to avoid a puddle, dropped a pistol from his pocket, which exploded on reaching the ground, and the ball, after striking the girl's forefinger, traversed her right wrist, and lodged in her arm, and so far, has not been extracted. The wound, if not dangerous, is painful, may probably disable her for life, and in the meantime, leaves her helpless in the hospital.

This unfortunate woman is one more added to the list of the victims of the impunity which attends the disgraceful practice of carrying concealed weapons. That it should be so general as it is—for there is hardly a loafer, rowdy, or fireman, or "fast" man in the City, whose pocket does not contain a revolver—is a disgrace to our civilization. We are in the habit of setting down people who go about their daily business with guns on their shoulders, or yataghans in their belts, as barbarians; but the open and undisguised exhibition of one's personal armory is decent and Christian compared with our practice of stowing away little pistols in our coat pockets because it is not cowardly and it is not treacherous. The usage which prevailed in the last century, of wearing small swords, is generally supposed to have given way to the increasing strength and efficiency of the law, and the increasing refinement of our manners. But the set of men in this City who carry deadly weapons under the black coats of peaceful-looking shopkeepers and clerks, and under the eye of the Metropolitan Police, are far greater barbarians than any swashbuckler that ever haunted Alsatia. The old-fashioned bully flaunted his weapons before the world, showed his rapier and his swagger in the streets, and enabled peaceful people to get out of his way. Ours sneaks along with the dress and air of a deacon, talks like a tax-payer, grumbles over the inefficiency of the Police, and keeps his implements of assassination carefully concealed in the breast-pocket of a seedy black swallow-tail. The results of this manly custom are known to everybody. It causes nine out of every twelve petty rows to end in murder. It places the most inoffensive of the community at the mercy of its scum. It leads every year to innumerable accidents. The fact of it being a punishable offence does not seem to make the least difference. Nobody seems to fear any legal consequences from the sudden revelation of his private arsenal to the public gaze. If all men who walk up Broadway every day were searched, the number of those who would be found in possession of the means of murdering their neighbors, without a moment's warning, would astonish people who judge of our manners by the extent of our religious organizations, and who are in the habit of supposing life in New-York a very different thing from life in the Chinese seas.

We do not deny the propriety of a man's arming himself who has to venture at night into dangerous localities. No police, however vigilant, can guarantee everybody against the ruffianism of such places as the Sixth and First Wards; and we hold that every citizen upon whom a night attack is made by a ruffian, renders society a service by treating his assailant like a wild animal. But what business have such people as Daniel McKay, "book-keeper, at 405 Broadway," with loaded pistols in their pockets at 8 o'clock in the morning, in front of the City Hall? What is the meaning of a shopman going to his employer's counting-room armed with deadly weapons, and ready to scatter death among the passers-by at every plunge and tumble he makes through the municipal mud? The unfortunate victim in this case furnishes one more illustration of the extent to which the poor and helpless are made, in this City, the butts and playthings of recklessness and disregard of law, and she is entitled at least to the sympathy of the public, since she cannot have its protection.

The New Police Bill.

The Metropolitan Police bill, which has just passed, whatever its defects may be, has one great merit—and that is, that it removes the two Mayors from the Board. These officers are, and always will continue to be, thorough politicians, as incapable of performing any public duty uninfluenced by political considerations, as a fish of living out of water. They are the creatures of political intrigue; politics is their business, and all their ambition is political. They cannot avoid making all the influence they possess subservient to their advancement in their profession, and it is folly to expect them to do otherwise. Mayor Wood, for instance, looks on his Mayoralty as simply a stepping-stone to greater honors; and to suppose that he would not use the position in its fullest extent to help himself on in his career, is to give him credit for a disinterestedness of which he would himself be thoroughly ashamed.

The change which has just been made is another step towards the complete abandonment of the absurd attempt to govern New-York by the same machinery as a New-England village, which we have long protested against, and the futility of which, even Jefferson foresaw. We have been governed long enough in the interest of the Sixth Ward, and it is now high time to obtain some better security for our lives and property than pugilists consider necessary. The men who hold the power which is hereafter to make our houses and our purses safe, must owe their offices to something more respectable and reliable than the 30,000 admirers of "His Honor the Mayor," who grace this City with their presence. Anybody who is willing to have his skull fractured and his purse robbed in honor of our "Municipal System," is welcome to the gratification of his taste. But the majority of our citizens do not share it. The Municipal system, as we possess it, is such a thoroughly inefficient and repulsive concern, that there are few of us who are not willing to have our Anglo-Saxon prejudices violated by its removal. Some of us are even audacious enough to believe that it was created for the people, and not the people for it, and that the fact that it has become a nuisance is quite sufficient warrant for getting rid of it.

One great defect of the new bill, however, is that it still permits Aldermen to act as magistrates. The only use these men make of their judicial powers is the discharge of criminals between arrest and examination, thus neutralizing the exertions of the police, and interfering with the duties of the police justices. In addition to this, a greater or less number of them are criminals themselves, with indictments hanging over their heads, and most of their associations are with the criminal population. Permitting them, therefore, to share in the administration of justice, is a great scandal, as well as a great abuse.

The Newspaper Express—Excitement at Troy—Fair Rivalry.—Our Troy contemporaries do not take kindly to the new order of things established by the New-York morning newspaper express train over the Hudson River Railroad. For some reason or other they seem to have been made thoroughly unhappy by it. They can scarcely represent, with any accuracy, the feelings of the people of Troy in this matter, for certainly they cannot object to receiving New-York journals with their breakfast, instead of their dinners, as hitherto. Possibly our Troy friends fear the effect of the direct rivalry they are forced to maintain with our Metropolitan papers; but competition of all sorts is what publishers there as well as here must expect to encounter.

We are glad to see, however, that the Troy journalists do not intend to confine their efforts to scolding. They do not expect to stop the train by abusing the parties to the project, nor by whining over the losses and inconvenience to which it is likely to subject them. On the contrary, they intend to "fight fire with fire,"—and, as we gather from a very long and rather cloudy announcement in the Whig, they intend to carry the war into Africa, by running an Express of their own, and delivering Troy papers in New-York by breakfast time! The Whig announces that Messrs. Scissors & Co.,—who are in fact, though not openly, the editors and proprietors of all the daily papers in Troy,—have organized this new express, and made "extensive, extra, exclusive and extraordinary arrangements" for the accomplishment of their schemes.

This is perfectly legitimate and proper. It may impose some extra expense on the Times and other New-York papers, in order to maintain themselves against this formidable competition of their Troy rivals,—but this is among the casualties of the business. Our Troy friends have our best wishes. Their enterprise and pluck deserve success. We shall be most happy to aid them in any way.

The Academy Exhibition of 1860.

This morning the National Academy of Design opens its Exhibition for 1860. From this time forth, all the world, Gentiles, publicans and sinners, may freely, though not gratuitously, enter in and enjoy the fruits of the palette in their season. Last night was reserved for the "Scribes and Pharisees," fashion and the critics, to whom a "private view" is graciously accorded by the rulers of the Academy. "Private" these views, in so far as they are views at all, must certainly be admitted to be; and in a sense which reminds us forcibly of an observation which we heard made in a sharp Yankee accent, one night at Rome, on leaving the Coliseum, after a most impressive display of blue lights, provided by Prince Demidoff, in honor of the return of Pope Pius from Gaeta. The reader may easily imagine that such a show in such a place must banish from the mind, for the time being, all external and sublunary thoughts. We imagined so ourselves, as we stood there in the arena, and watched the ghostly splendors flash and fade around the solemn circle of the eternal pile. But as we came out through one of the great vomitories, the familiar tones of New-England fell upon our ear, in these expressive words: "Private fortunes, do you say? Hem—there are some of those private fortunes so infernally private you never can find 'em."

The private view at the Academy, we fear, must be classed with these fortunes. You see, as we saw last night, a great many human beings, a general glitter of gilt frames and a kaleidoscopic glow of colors. Here and there some bit of drawing, like Barry's gracious crayon heads, arrests your attention by being intelligible and expressive even under the gaslight; but so far as the paintings are concerned, if you really care to know what they are, what they mean, and how they say it, you will make a Gentile of yourself and go by daylight, to-day, or to-morrow, or for many days to come. As to the human beings, of course it is the purest bliss to gaze on fashion and the critics; but both of those delectable corporations are quite as apt as were Ulysses and his crew to be led by the ears, and Fashion, at least, has other uses for cotton than to stuff the same upon its tympanum; and so last night both Fashion and the Critics went astray after the Opera. "Don Pasquale" at the Academy,—Maretzek's début at the Winter Garden—how could Fashion or the Critics resist this double attraction?

Still there was a goodly showing of people at the rooms in Tenth-street; on the walls a goodly number of canvases; the female dragon at the door was as ferocious as usual, the Committee as courteous, the company as chatty and circumambient—and so the exhibition of 1860 has been "inaugurated," with all the honors and homage and hopes upon which art, artists and amateurs can reasonably have counted.

Large Long Island Trout.—A magnificent trout was taken on the north side of Long Island last week, (by Mr. J. Crumby, of this City,) of most extra ordinary dimensions. After the battle attending his capture was over, with the assistance of George Townsend, Esq., of Oyster Bay, who was present at the time, the "monarch of the brook" was safely landed. The trout was 20½ inches long, 13½ inches girth, and weighed four and a half pounds. The nearest approach to the size and weight of this fish was a trout of the same species taken at Islip, L. I., in March, 1848, (by Mr. F. Dodd, of this City,) when he was regularly christened as the "Henry Clay Trout." His dimensions were a trifle less than the above, and his weight, (after having bled freely,) 3 pounds and 14 ounces.

Mr. Dodd having for over twelve years been "the champion of the heavy weights" on Long Island, he now relinquishes the "belt," which he has so long held, with the satisfaction of a "true lover of the angle." The exhibition of the fine fish recently taken, to several "enthusiasts of the rod" here, created a marked sensation; and they were unanimous in their declaration that they had never seen any trout so fine before.

Both of the trout as above, were of the kind known to some sportsmen as "creek fish," and it is unnecessary to say more than this to the initiated. They have constant access to fresh and salt water, without which the trout can never reach the highest state of perfection. They are the true "game" trout in shape, muscle and flavor, and cannot be equaled by any other kind. This is conceded by all experienced judges.

During the State canvass a singular bet was made on the result of the State election, which was lost by Mr. Jason M. Case, who on the 7th, (says the Hartford Times,) in conformity with its terms, wheeled a barrel of crackers from the State House, in this city, to the State Prison, at Wethersfield, and back. He started at 9 o'clock in the morning, amid the encouraging cheers of a group of amazed spectators, and arrived at the prison in one hour and a quarter. He returned at 3 P. M., making one hour and a half on his return trip.

Winter Garden—Italian Opera.

Mr. Max Maretzek, the "indomitable," resumed his old position as operatic manager last night, having leased the Winter Garden for the purpose, and was welcomed back to his post in the orchestra with something more than the usual [illegible]. The reception was deserved, for of the many dictators we have had in this City—and their numbers have been sufficient to throw discredit on their [illegible]—he is undoubtedly the one to whom the "divine art" is most indebted for past services and present advancement. We say this with no desire to undervalue the oftentimes meritorious efforts of others who have followed in his footsteps, but simply as a matter of truth which may gracefully be put on record at this moment. Something is due to the hardy pioneer who treads the path to progress and success, and something is Mr. Maretzek's, as a glance at the [illegible] will prove. Much has been accomplished since the memorable epoch of the old Astor-place Opera-house. Italian opera has been established "on a permanent basis" at least a dozen times, and, whether successfully or not, we have secured by the efforts then initiated a succession of respectable operas and artists. The [illegible] contests incidental to an enterprise promising [illegible] results have taken place over and over again; [illegible] have quarrelled with managers, managers with artists, artists with the public, and so on to the end of the chapter. No one save the parties interested have regretted these little episodes, for they have been the means of exciting a spirit of excellence and of educating the public in the school of comparison, which would not otherwise have been expected or effected. When the Academy of Music was erected, it was supposed that these old struggles would cease, and that, content with one spacious opera house, the Musical World would rest satisfied with what the managers chose to give them. Under ordinary circumstances this might have been regarded as a natural consequence of a wise and liberal speculation, but an injudicious system of leasing the Fourteenth-street house for a lengthy period, and of thus establishing, or attempting to establish a monopoly of Italian opera, has resulted—as all such efforts result—in a long series of oppositions. For the simple reason that the Winter Garden possesses better acoustic properties than any other establishment in the City, it has been invariably selected as the battle ground for the musical contestants. Besides many others, Mr. Hackett, (with Grisi and Mario,) Mr. Strakosch, and finally Mr. Maretzek, have in turn occupied it with their belligerent forces,—numbering frequently some of the greatest and best artists we have ever had in this country. So much for the place and the cause of its selection. Mr. Maretzek, like a cautious general, enters upon his present fight with ample resources. His company is unusually strong—the strongest, probably, that has been in this City since the palmy days of the Marti troupe. Among his prime donne we find the names of Mesdames Inez Fabbri, Gassier, Frezzolini and Wissler; his principal tenors are Signors Errani and Stigelli; his baritones and bassos, Messrs. Gassier, Gasparoni, Ardavani and Muller. With this double force in all departments he is able to play six times a week, and will of course do so.

The opera selected for the opening night was Donizetti's "Lucia"—a work delightful in itself, but not especially suggestive to a belated writer. It was cast as follows: Mme. Gassier was the Lucia, Signor Errani the Edgardo, and Signor Gassier the Ashton. With the exception of the tenor, all the artists are well known and appreciated in this community. Signor Errani has recently won a success in Havana, where he is esteemed a worthy successor of Signor Salvi. In the general characteristics of voice and style he bears many resemblances to his illustrious predecessor. He phrases with distinctness and with a nice and rare perception of musical balance. His executive powers are good and substantial, rather than showy and remarkable. The most noticeable portion of his performance was the malediction scene of the second act, which was delivered with vehement musical emphasis, and brought down the house with a tumult of applause. In the first and last acts he sang with care, and displayed much sweetness of intonation, marred occasionally, however, by certain depressions of the sustained tones, which, if not blemishes on his art capacity, were certainly indications of unusual nervousness. We anticipate for Signor Errani a brilliant career. He has obviously a good voice, and knows how to use it to the best advantage.

Mme. Gassier obtained the honors of the evening and fully merited them. We have no recollection of a better Lucia, and certainly cannot recall a performance in which the lady has been heard to such decided advantage. So remarkable was her excellence in the last act, and the applause which it provoked, that it was some minutes ere the opera could proceed. Mr. Gassier was admirable as Ashton. He always is admirable in all that he undertakes.

The orchestra, strong and efficient, (being composed entirely of picked men,) was conducted by Mr. Maretzek, with his usual ability. The chorus is first rate.

To-night, (Thursday,) Mme. Inez Fabbri, the new prima donna, will make her début in "La Traviata," supported by the best members of the company.

Benefit.—We are requested to state that Mr. Pearson's benefit announced for to-night at the Winter Garden, will take place on Thursday of next week.

Barnum's Museum.—Mr. Barnum has sent an agent to England to secure the Winner in the Great Fight. He proposes to put him on exhibition at the Museum.

Academy of Music.

The least regarded of Donizetti's innumerable works is probably "Don Pasquale,"—which is also one of his best. Its career in this City has never been brilliant. Piccolomini, whose Norina was accepted in Europe as admirable, failed to make a sensation with the part here. It was enjoyed by the appreciative few and ignored by the remunerative many. No reason can be assigned for this, except that the idea of the opera is very quiet and domestic, and not at all of the sensational character which people fond of being astonished most affect. The music, thoroughly delicious, is filled with melodious ideas and graceful elaborations of musical figures. It is so eminently singable, too, that successful or unsuccessful, it is sure, like the "Barbiere" of Rossini, to find its students in the foremost ranks of art. We are indebted to Miss Patti for the present opportunity of hearing the work, and if we may judge by the numbers who shared our satisfaction, it is in a better way now of becoming popular than at any previous period of its cis-atlantic history. There was, in truth, a remarkably large audience to greet the new prima donna in her new part, and to add it to her repertoire as a success. In all the more detached portions of the work, and in every passage where facility and delicacy were required, Miss Patti sang excellently. In the ensembles there was occasional lack of power, and notably in the termagant finale to the second act, where experience of husbands and a knowledge of male excitants is needed. Apart from these slight drawbacks, the performance was in every way a success.

Signor Susini as the perplexed Don was very amusing. Signor Ferri as the Doctor good, and Signor Brignoli as Ernest, all that the most exacting widow could desire. The Opera will bear repetition.

Artificial Culture of Trout.—The anglers will be rejoiced to learn that this process has been successfully commenced in this part of the country. Mr. Aaron S. Vail, at Smithtown, L. I., has been busily engaged for the last two years in breeding trout, and his efforts have proved successful. On Monday of this week he conveyed 2,123 trout, of last Winter's hatching, in cans from Smithtown to Yonkers, and stocked the pond of Mr. Blackwell at that place. The little fellows are all doing well, and undoubtedly Mr. B. will have the pleasure, in a year or so, of casting the fly upon his own waters and tickling the palate of many a piscatorial epicure from the proceeds of his own grounds.

The Wisconsin Fugitive Slave Case.—The following is the return of the United States Marshal of Wisconsin to the writ of habeas corpus issued for Mr. Booth. The Marshal flatly refuses to deliver up his prisoner:

To Lemuel B. S. Miller, Esq., Court Commissioner for Racine County:

I, the within named J. H. Lewis, Marshal of the United States for the District of Wisconsin, not submitting to your jurisdiction in the premises, respectfully make return to the annexed writ of habeas corpus that I hold the said Sherman M. Booth in my custody as said Marshal of the United States, by virtue of a sentence and order and warrant of the District Court of the United States for the District of Wisconsin, in a matter of which the said Court has exclusive jurisdiction, as will fully appear by a copy of a record of the prosecution, trial, conviction and sentence of said Sherman M. Booth, and of the order and warrant for his rearrest hereto annexed; and without intending any contempt of your authority or writ, I respectfully decline and refuse to surrender the said Sherman M. Booth, as commanded in said writ of habeas corpus.

Arrival of the Overland Mail.

SHIPPING AND COMMERCIAL NEWS—ORGANIZATION OF A UNION PARTY—MORE DISCOVERIES OF SILVER—THE JAPANESE VISITORS—PREPARATIONS FOR THE RECEPTION OF THE AMBASSADORS.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Wednesday, April 11.

The Overland Mail coach with San Francisco dates to March 23, arrived here at 3½ o'clock this afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Arrived 21st, brig Penguin, from Hamburg; 23d, bark Daniel Webster, from New-York. Sailed 20th, Danish ship Hindoo, for Valparaiso; 23d, the steamer Washington, for Panama, to remain there as a reserve boat for the Mail line.

Since the steamer of the 20th there has been a moderate demand from the country, but business is slack, with no further speculative operations.

Candles were heavy and drooping. Coffee unchanged. 2,000 cases of assorted goods were put up at auction, but as they would not bring within 25 per cent. of the home cost, the samples only were sold. Coal was hard to sell at $13@$14. Provisions were quiet, but prices well sustained. 300 half barrels of extra clear Pork were sold at $11. Butter has an improving tendency—Isthmus 25c.@28c. Sugars, both refined and raw, were inactive; China No. 1 lower; crushed 16c. The market for foreign brandies was active at improving prices; other kinds, including domestic, were dull.

There is not much news. The Central Overland Express Company started from Sacramento on the 21st, to stock the route towards Salt Lake, taking over 100 animals, conducted by 25 men, under the superintendence of CHAS. NEWMAN.

A movement is on foot to organize a Union Party in California.

There is a rumor that Capt. WRIGHT, recently California agent of the Vanderbilt line, intends to start the steamer Hermann, on the 15th or 20th of April, as an opposition boat to Panama, to connect with the Ericsson, from Aspinwall to New-York.

About $17,700 of Government drafts were sent to New-York during the fortnight ending on the 20th, which accounts to that extent for the light treasure shipment by the last steamer.

It is reported that the telegraph on the Butterfield route will be extended to Visolia, about 250 miles from San Francisco, by the middle of April. The State Telegraph line will be completed this week between Sacramento and Placerville, making two lines complete between San Francisco and Placerville, both of which there connect with the line to Carson Valley.

The claim to the Suscol ranch, comprising 600,000 acres of land, on which are the towns of Benicia and Vallajo, has been confirmed by the United States Circuit Court.

There has been much excitement in El Dorado during the past few days, on account of the discovery, near Georgetown, of some valuable specimens of silver ore, resembling that from the Washoe mines. Whether the lead is extensive or not has not yet been determined.

The Senate has passed a bill appropriating $70,000 for the commencement of a State Capitol at Sacramento; also a bill appropriating $240,000 to build nine wagon roads across the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

A letter, received from Kanagawa, Japan, dated 6th February, says that the Powhatan, according to news just received from Jeddo, would probably sail with the Japanese Embassy direct to Acapulco, there to coal, and thence proceed to Panama. This is later news from Jeddo than the Candinmurrah brought, and comes from such a source as to throw doubt on the previous announcement that the Powhatan was to sail for San Francisco; still, the latest reports are conflicting, and the Legislature are preparing to give the Ambassadors a grand reception if they do visit San Francisco, making it a State affair. The Japanese Admiral, and other officers of the Candinmurrah, have had a public reception by the Corporation authorities at the City Hall, have been treated to banquets, honored with salutes from the forts and plaza, and received marked attentions from all classes of persons. To-day the Candinmurrah officers and crew will be taken to the Navy-yard at Mare Island, when the vessel will go on the dry dock for repairs, and the officers will be invited to an inspection of the facilities furnished for shipbuilding, repairing, &c. The strangers have manifested great curiosity at the sights presented here, and are desirous of investigating the mechanical and other peculiarities of the city. They seem highly pleased with the attention bestowed upon them. The usual accounts have been received from the Washoe silver mines during the week. The news was as favorable as ever.

Missouri Democratic Convention.

DRAFT OF THE RESOLUTIONS TO BE ADOPTED.

ST. LOUIS, Wednesday, April 11.

The proceedings of the Democratic State Convention at Jefferson City, yesterday, were not very harmonious, and little progress was made.

The Committee on Resolutions agreed upon a platform which will be presented this morning, indorsing the main features of Mr. BUCHANAN's administration, affirming that neither Congress nor Territorial Legislatures have the power to abolish or prohibit the introduction of Slavery into the Territories; repudiating the doctrine of STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS of unfriendly legislation; favoring the Fugitive Slave law; charging the invasion of Virginia as the legitimate result of the teachings of the Republican Party; repudiating the stereotyped charge of disunion sentiments so often repeated for party effect against the Democratic Party, and denouncing the doctrine of the irrepressible conflict. On State politics, as regards the Railroad issue, it is proposed to refer it to the people at the next election asserting, however, that it is alike the duty and for the interest of the State to encourage a judicious system of internal improvements within the constitutional limit of the State debt.

A resolution advocating the peaceful acquisition of territory, especially Cuba, was added to the platform this morning, when the whole report was adopted unanimously. After several ineffectual ballots, Gov. CLAYBORN F. JACKSON was unanimously nominated, and THOMAS C. REYNOLDS was also unanimously nominated for Lieutenant-Governor. B. T. MASSEY, the present Secretary of State, and A. W. MORRISON, the present Treasurer, were nominated for reelection.

The Rains at the West.

RISE OF THE MONONGAHELA RIVER—DESTRUCTIVE FRESHETS IN OHIO.

PITTSBURGH, Wednesday, April 11.

The heavy rains for the past three days have caused a freshet, attended with the destruction of considerable property. The lowlands along the Monongahela and Allegany Rivers are completely inundated. The rise came so suddenly that several coal boats on the Monongahela were swept over the dam and sunk. The number lost was thirteen, the loss being over $16,000. The loss in Alleghany has been considerable. Several manufactories were flooded, and families in some instances were driven from their dwellings. The railroads also have suffered by land-slides, which have impeded travel.

Altogether it has been one of the most destructive freshets experienced for many years. The rivers have now mostly attained the highest stage—rising but about an inch an hour. The Monongahela piermark indicates 29 feet 4 inches—only 20 inches less than the great freshet of 1852.

CLEVELAND, Wednesday, April 11.

The heavy rains of the past few days have resulted in considerable obstruction to the railroads in the State. The Cleveland and Pittsburgh and the Central Ohio Roads are both washed away in several places, and will be rendered impassable for a day or two. A message from Columbus says that all the roads leading into that place are overflowed.

IMPORTANT FROM ARIZONA.

Two Female Captives taken by Apaches—Sixty Volunteers in the Field—Two Men Murdered by Apaches—Liberality of the Sonora Emigration and Mining Company—Attack upon Arivaca—Interesting Details, &c.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

TUBAC, Friday, March 23, 1860.

On the morning of the 15th inst., Mrs. JOHN PAGE and a little Mexican girl were abducted from their home, in the pinery of the Santa Rita Mountains, by wild Apache Indians. Mr. PAGE had gone into the mountain to get out some lumber contracted for by the Sonora Emigration and Mining Company, and the females were left alone. A careful examination of the vicinity has since led to the conviction that the Indians secreted themselves near the house and watched the departure of the men, in order to carry off the females. One of Mr. PAGE's men, who had gone out hunting early in the morning, returned after an absence of about two hours, and upon observing what had taken place, gave the alarm. The half-frantic husband, a bridegroom of only two months, rode to the Canoa ranche for help, and after starting an express for Tubac, Mr. R. M. DASS, the proprietor, set out with a neighbor to accompany Mr. PAGE upon the trail.

When the dispatch reached Tubac, every heart was filled with consternation at so unlooked-for an event, for the Apaches have never hitherto attempted the taking of prisoners since the Territory was ceded to the United States. The officers of the Sonora Emigration and Mining Co. forwarded the dispatch to the commander of Fort Buchanan without delay, and our citizens awaited further intelligence in anxious suspense, preparing, meanwhile, to take active part in the rescue upon the receipt of information that would enable them to direct their energies to the proper point. The messenger who had gone to the post returned with a note from Lieut. RANDALL, First Dragoons, stating that Capt. EWELL had started with 25 men to intercept the Indians at a pass in the mountains, taking several Indian mail prisoners at the Fort to negotiate or exchange, and requesting to be intercepted by an express across the country, if any additional information was obtained, "such as a delivery of the prisoners, their bodies being found," &c.

Mr. S. F. LATHROP, Director of the Sonora E. and M. Co., on Sunday about noon received information from the Company's hacienda at Arivaca, that, on the evening of the same day these captives were abducted, thirty head of cattle were stolen from the ranche by another party of Apaches, who had also killed two wood-choppers of the Company returning home from their work. Seven men started in pursuit of the Indians, as soon as the alarm was given, under written orders, which Mr. LATHROP had issued some days before, to follow any stock stolen from the ranche, on the best animals at command, and not to turn back as long as the animals could stand up. They followed the trail, as subsequently appeared, for two days, traveling in that time over ninety miles, and closely pressing the Indians. Six head of cattle gave out during the tramp, and were shot by the Indians, but in their haste, they dared not stop to cut off a pound of the meat, and were finally pressed so closely that they abandoned the stock to their pursuers. The cattle were returned to Arivaca on the 20th. The diabolical murder which had taken place simultaneously with the theft was not discovered till after the party started. The murdered men were stripped entirely nude, their heads almost chopped off with the axes, and to complete the picture of horrors, they left the bodies literally riddled with arrows and bullets.

Information of this foray, as I have already said, reached Tubac on Sunday, at noon. This horror, following hard upon the abduction case, created an intense excitement. Farmers, too, came in town, and reported having seen, while hunting for a stray cattle, piles of brush, seemingly built up within a fortnight, which might be intended for signal fires, and it was inferred that an attack upon Tubac and the neighboring ranches was intended. In the evening Mr. LATHROP assembled the Mexican population on the public plaza, and, upon alluding to the outrages which had been perpetrated by the Apaches, he stated that it was most probable that the two parties would make for a common point on the Gila River, and that he was only awaiting further intelligence to start with a company of volunteers to join Capt. EWELL. Representing an interest as Director of the Sonora Emigration and Mining Co., of persons far removed from the soil of Arizona, he would yet assume the responsibility of even temporarily stopping the Company's works, if necessary, and put all his men in the field. He spoke of the long-continued apathy of our Government in refusing to hearken to our almost incessant appeals for adequate military protection, and declared that if we ourselves would not be driven from the country, like the old Spanish fathers who first settled the land, we must strike a decisive blow for ourselves, and overawe the savages. He agreed to furnish rations for all who would accompany him, and promised to employ them at the mines upon his return, if they desired employment. On behalf of the Company, he would relinquish all claim to the stock stolen during the late foray at Arivaca, if captured by the expedition, or any other animals bearing the Company's brands that might be seized by the party; that captured stock should be recognized as lawful spoils of war, and all other members of the expedition, Mexicans and Americans, should share it equally. Many agreed to join him, and he dismissed the crowd, to await further intelligence.

On Monday, an express arrived from Lieut. RANDALL, Fort Buchanan, with the following dispatch for Col. LATHROP:

"I received an express from Capt. EWELL last night, to the effect that Mrs. PAGE and the girl have not been taken from the mountains. That the Indians have been left afoot, and are trying to steal animals that they may get their captives off. It is, therefore, desired that a strict guard should be kept over all animals for the present, and that all persons who can join in the rescue will be thankfully received and liberally rewarded. Send me fifty or one hundred 'Papago' men, if possible. Tell them I will pay them well, and give them all the beef, &c., they can eat. Send them up to-night, as quick as possible. Capt. EWELL wishes to surround the mountain, and I will distribute them. Capt. EWELL desires no hostile movement toward these Indians, and will be glad to have every information sent to the post. Be sure that no animals are left loose."

Mr. LATHROP, who was severely indisposed at the time, immediately rallied himself. He sent for the Chief of the Papagoes, and secured the services of seventeen of the tribe—all the others being away hunting mical roots for food. Twenty-eight Mexicans agreed to go, and Don ANT. GANDARA, a native of Sonora, volunteered to command them. Late in the afternoon Col. LATHROP dispatched a courier to the commander at Fort Buchanan, with the following:

TUBAC, March 19, 1860—4 P. M.

DEAR SIR: I have your favor of this morning. I will be at Fort Buchanan at daylight in the morning, with at least sixty men. It will be mixed—Americans, Mexicans and Papagoes. I shall require arms for the Mexicans. You may rest assured that what can be done will be by all the citizens here to recover the prisoners.

Yours,

S. H. LATHROP, Director.

Col. LATHROP started for the Ford about dusk, with a force of fifty-seven men. He arrived at early morn. Forty-five of his men were on foot. During the day an express arrived from Capt. EWELL, stating that the Indians had passed out of the mountain, previously dividing into two parties, each with a prisoner. The party having charge of the little girl had crossed the Overland Mail road some thirty miles east of Tucson, and the young captive had thoughtfully left evidences of her presence along the trail for the benefit of those in pursuit. The trail of the other party was also followed, but, after proceeding some distance, they found no trace of Mrs. PAGE, and the Captain thought it probable that she had given out, and that her captors had killed her rather than suffer her to be retaken, and had secreted the body.

Capt. E. would not return to the post, but would send out one of his Indian prisoners, well mounted, to the Pinal country, telling him to bring in the two captives to the Cañon del Oro within eight days, where he would meet them and exchange his prisoners at the Fort for them. He endeavored to inspire him with the most direful apprehensions in regard to the safety of his wife and children at the post in case he failed to return, and had adopted measures to make it a matter of little doubt that he would keep the engagement. Capt. E. has therefore moved on to the Cañon del Oro, where he will encamp till the expiration of the eight days.

A trail was found about the time this dispatch arrived, which crossed the valley of the Sonoita within four miles of the post, and it was at once surmised that this must be the trail of those Indians who had Mrs. PAGE in custody. The volunteers from Tubac were sent out with rations for six days, and ordered to follow the trail till some positive indication was found of the presence of Mrs. PAGE in the party. Col. LATHROP himself was too ill to ride, and was compelled to remain behind. Lieut. RANDALL and Col. L. both think Mrs. PAGE still living, and consider that the Indians will take as good care of them as their barbarous ideas of propriety will suggest. But they are in captivity, at the mercy of savages who know no pity, and a mere whim of any of their captors may prove their death-warrant at any moment. That they will shortly be ransomed and restored to their families is the prayer of every sympathetic heart.

In Philadelphia, on Sunday, April 8, one Wm Smith, an Englishman, shot his wife, Ann Smith, and then deliberately took another pistol and shot himself. The ball entered the woman behind the right ear, and came out of her mouth. The cause of the quarrel appears to have been about a ring which the woman had that formerly belonged to her first husband, and this one desired to become in possession of it; she refused to give it to him, and hence the attempted murder.

Rev. Thomas Whittemore: "I have been using, for some time past, the PERUVIAN SYRUP (Protoxide of Iron.) It gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits elasticity of muscle. I have no doubt, that in cases of Paralysis, like mine, Dyspepsia, and especially of Dropsy, it may be administered with a greater prospect of success than any other medicine in use among us."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.
The breaking up of the cold weather, and the presence of Spring, excite the bile and inertia of our citizens, causing a feeling of lassitude and heaviness, aching and dizziness of the head, and what is commonly known as SPRING FEVER. And why? Because the sudden change of weather calls all the impurities and secretions of the system into action, and the results are the ills complained of; but there is a sure and certain remedy. "THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE," and if the BLOOD be free from all impurities and putrid humors, there will be no disease.
Dr. S. P. TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA,
as manufactured under the direction of the celebrated chemist and physician, Dr. JAMES R. CHILTON, is the only effective and permanent RENOVATOR AND PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD, as it contains all the vegetable substances which experience has tested and proved useful in ERADICATING DISEASE FROM THE SYSTEM.
A few bottles will most effectually regulate and cleanse the system, and KEEP THE BLOOD PURE.

NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF ALBANY AND TROY.
From some cause a rumor seems to have gained currency in your vicinity that the cost of the New-York daily papers was to be greatly advanced by the newspaper train. The following statement presents the facts:
The original cost of the leading New-York dailies is 1½ cents. I purchase and deliver these papers, FREIGHT FREE, for 2 CENTS, which is an advance of but one-half of a cent, precisely the same rate which is asked by the United States Government for carrying those same journals in their mail-bags five hours later.

TO LADY INVALIDS.—IN SUGGESTING TO ladies of feeble habit the importance of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as a means of safely supplying or renewing that vigor upon which health and the duration of life depend, we solicit their attention to a few important facts. The preparation is specially adapted to the cure of all functional derangements arising either from constitutional weakness or other causes. It is recommended by medical men as a sure remedy for the obstruction and irregularities from which few of the sex are uniformly exempt, and married ladies especially. Mothers who are engaged in the cares of maternity will find the Bitters a glorious preparation for recruiting the bodily energies, and giving tone and tension to the relaxed nerves. They cheer and animate the spirits without creating undue excitement, promote sleep, act mildly upon the bowels, create an appetite, are extremely useful in all bilious affections and may be taken with the fullest confidence that the infinite good they do can never be followed by any unfavorable reaction.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

The Humboldt Butchery of Indian Infants and Women—Jacob Elyea Hanged—Bogus Mining Stories—A Solid Ledge of Gold at Jacksonville—Items About Town, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Friday, March 16, 1860.

The particulars of the horrid massacre of peaceable Indians, one bright Sunday morning, (Feb. 25,) I detailed in my last steamer letter. Since then, many who were in the vicinity have been in town, and the coherence and agreement of their several stories show that we have arrived at the truth in the matter. It appears that the brutal murderers were not over-anxious to meet the male Indians; that a spy who had attended an annual dance on Indian Island (about a mile from Eureka, the County Seat of Humboldt) the evening previous, conveyed the intelligence that there was not a gun, bow or arrow on the island, that the savages were entirely defenceless. The whites then approached, about 6 o'clock in the morning, fired upon and killed three men, who were asleep in a cabin at some little distance from where the women lay, then, entering lodge after lodge, they dirked the sleeping, and with axes split open and crushed the skulls of the children and women. The total killed on the island were fifty-five, of whom only five were men. On South Beach, about a mile away from Eureka, in another direction, an hour or two before, the same party of whites had killed 58, most of them women and children. No defence was made. Many of the women were making an honest living in the families of the whites. The half-breeds pleaded for their lives in good English. On the following Wednesday 40 more were butchered on the South Fork of the Eel River. The Humboldt Times, which justifies this short method of getting rid of disagreeable neighbors, says that many of those killed on Eel River were bucks and bad fellows. Still later, by a few days, 35 were slaughtered on Eagle Prairie—total of the butchered within one week, 188. The victims had lived on terms of peace with the whites, and relied on them for security. They were not even charged with thieving. Their great crime was that the whites suspected that some hostile mountain Indians had taken refuge among them when hard pressed. The names of the brave men who brained the children have not been published. One writer for the Bulletin says, however, that there is a fellow in Eureka who boasts that with his own hatchet he slew 30 women and children in one day, and that another man who professes to have been captain of the outlaws says that he alone killed 60 infants.

JACOB ELYEA, for the murder of JAMES MCQUADE, on the 27th of January, 1858, was executed at Stockton on the 9th inst., protesting his innocence to the last. Twice he had been tried, and twice respited. His imprisonment has lasted over two years. The last effort to acquit him was grounded on the fact that the chief witness against him, was a Turk—hence a negro—and hence incapable of testifying against a white man. Just as he was going to die, he gave the Sheriff a package of the heads of phosphorus matches. He had saved them during the two years of his confinement, to swallow in a last emergency, and so commit suicide; but thinking better of it, he had refrained from taking his own life.

The Crescent City Herald has seen some golden sands panned out from the ocean beach; nobody believes it. Fine copper has been discovered near the same place, and forwarded to San Francisco as a bait, but it does not tempt much. The Jacksonville Sentinel says rich placer mines have been found near the head of Applegate, some twenty-five miles from Jacksonville. The Ish claim stories increase in size daily. The last item telegraphed from Yerka concerning it, says a ledge of almost solid gold has been found some twenty feet below the surface. THOMAS CAVANAH, it adds, was offered $80,000 for his one-fifth interest, but declined to accept it, saying that the wealth of the ROTHSCHILDS would not tempt him.

The Flour mills of KEUTZER & CROSBY, of Tehama, were burned down on the 8th of March,—damage $100,000. Insured for $10,000 in the Ætna.

On Monday and Tuesday a fleet of clippers from New-York arrived: the Great Republic and Ocean Telegraph came in side by side, just 100 days out from your port; the Harry Hastings in 119 days, and Good Hope in 145 days. From Boston, the Reynard, in 127 days, and the Expounder in 148 days. Merchandise of all sorts is cheap, and there is quite a housekeeping fever bred by the market reports.

The fact that Mr. SIMONTON of the Bulletin has been selling off his furniture preliminary to sending his family East on a visit, has given the hungry reporters opportunity to write an item to the effect that he leaves the Bulletin,—and next day to contradict the story, upon the best of authority, as untrue.

The charges of corruption in our Reform Supervisors, brought in the Senate by the enemies of our City Water Works, stood a single night's investigation, and then the prosecution broke down.

Two days, now, the Police Court has been trying to get a jury to give Dr. CHASE a new trial on the charge of tampering with the acids used in the Mint. A panel of 100 jurors was exhausted, when ten jurors only had been sworn—the trouble being that they all read the newspapers. To-day a new venire of 36 has been ordered.

The Sonora (old line) steamer arrived here Tuesday afternoon, with New-York dates to Feb. 20, and 600 passengers. The Overland stage, with telegraphic news from New-York to the 21st, beat in in about half an hour. The Orizaba (Vanderbilt) arrived this morning, and among her passengers I see, fat and full of hope, EDWARD PEPPER, Esq., who used to do the Republicanism of the Second Ward of your City.

The Steamship Companies' consolidation took us a little aback—but hurrah, now, for VANDERBILT! If I have ever said anything to the discredit of his lazy boats, please cancel or forget it all, and let me have a clean record with the ruling powers.

GLAUCUS.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

STREET LABELS.—The verdict of "careless sloven," if not of "culpable rascal," would be found by the public against a druggist who should serve them with medicines from an array of bottles and boxes having some the labels upside down, others with the inscription reading from right to left, and others yet, with no marks at all to indicate their contents. Without intimating that the public receptacles of ashes, filth, and garbage, in this City, commonly 'yclept "public thoroughfares," contain elements so well adapted to sanitary purposes as the druggist's ipecac. and arsenic, we still believe that the naming and numbering of the public ways are matters worthy of at least a tithe of the care which the clumsiest apothecary-boy in the town devotes to labeling bottles on the dusty shelves of a shop. The manner in which has been accomplished the design of making street lamps serve as street signs also, which should be legible by night as well as day, is certainly as ridiculous as the attempt was commendable. The naked African who aped the grandeur of civilized apparel by wearing a sailor's jacket, which in his ignorance he used á la trowsers, was in a hardly more ludicrous plight, considering the locale of his experiment, than is this great town, when its attempted adornment results in typifying the municipal topsy-turvy with illuminated guide-boards fastened upside down. The job of lettering the lamps was certainly never bestowed on the workman as a reward of literary merit; his fidelity to his patron at the polls having probably much more to do with the matter. This irregularity of inscriptions is bad enough, though the name of the street can be read, if the inquiring traveler will only climb the post and read from the inside of the lamp, or resort to the circus expedient of standing on his head. But worse than this is the utter neglect to label some of the streets at all; by which a stranger at the upper crossings of Broadway is afforded as little means of learning his whereabouts as he would enjoy in the middle of the Arabian desert. Other streets have their names, like CALIGULA's laws, printed so fine, and stuck so high, that only a telescope can bring them down. Nor are all these clumsy neglects compensated by the double or three-fold labeling—often with different names—which some of the streets enjoy. Even when the right street is found, the anxious seeker after a tenement or boarding house—in this time of domestic pilgrimages—has not seen the end of his embarrassments; for the same numbers often are used by different houses in a single street—not to mention the beautiful simplicity afforded by giving a part of the street a different name from that enjoyed by both its ends, and numbering the houses, not according to their order in the street, but their position in the "place." The authorities have already undertaken the renumbering of some of the streets. Why cannot the reform be extended to the whole of our great Metropolitan labyrinth?

SALE OF MR. BALESTIER'S COLLECTION OF PAINTINGS, AND THE APOTHEOSIS OF WASHINGTON.—The sale of Mr. J. N. BALESTIER's large collection of oil-paintings and engravings was commenced at his residence, in Fourteenth-street, last evening. There was a very fair attendance, but the bidding, although sometimes spirited, was seldom liberal. The first sold was a lot of engravings, most of them of moderate merit, which brought an average of about $1 25 each, with frames. The paintings, one hundred and thirty-one of which were sold, brought very poor prices. A large majority of them were sold for a little more than the value of the frames. An Italian landscape, said to be the work of SALVATOR ROSA, was sold for $12 50, and a "Landscape and Figures" labeled from the same artist, sold for $18. The "Itinerant Preacher," a very good picture, by C. F. BLAUVELT, was knocked down to Gov. WASHINGTON SMITH for $55. The same gentleman secured a piece of tropical scenery, by JESSE TALBOT, for $55. "The Shepherd," by MARSHAL DE METZ, which was a present from Dr. ARMOND, of Paris, to Dr. DAVID HOSBACK, of this City, was sold for $100. The "Interior of a Monastery," a small picture, by REMBRANDT PEALE, brought $13; and two landscapes by ADAM BARLAND, brought $30 each. "Christ Sleeping on the Cross" and "St. John the Baptist Sleeping," by MICHAEL ANGELO CARRAVAGGIO, sold, the first for $140 and the other for $160. The sale will be continued, and probably concluded, this evening. The "Apotheosis of Washington" was sold at the Merchant's Exchange yesterday, by Messrs. LEEDS to Mr. E. R. ALBURTIS, for the sum of $160.

WORKING MEN'S POLITICAL UNION OF THE EIGHTEENTH WARD—THE FREE LAND MOVEMENT.—A meeting of the Society which has assumed the above title was held last night in the German saloon, No. 209 Avenue A. The object for which it has been ostensibly organized is the promotion of the movement in favor of the passage by Congress of a Homestead bill, securing the public lands in limited quantities to actual settlers. The meetings, according to the requirements of the constitution, are held monthly, and the expenses are defrayed entirely by voluntary contributions. The attendance last night did not exceed twenty persons, all told. In the absence of the President, Mr. WARDEN and Mr. SPENCER were, on motion of Mr. HENRY BEENY, elected respectively Chairman and Secretary. The Constitution was afterwards read, and subsequent to that, addresses in favor of the free land scheme were delivered by Mr. POOR and others. At a pretty late hour the meeting adjourned.

DEATH OF MR. W. E. WILMERDING.—Mr. WM. E. WILMERDING, senior partner in the well-known firm of WILMERDING & MOUNT, auctioneers, died suddenly yesterday morning, as is supposed, of an apoplectic attack. Mr. WILMERDING was in the sixty-first year of his age. He had been complaining during the last week, but was not considered dangerously unwell. The funeral services will be held at Grace Church on Saturday at 2 o'clock.

RISING STAR HISTRIONIC UNION.—At a quarterly meeting of this Association of amateurs, held on Saturday evening, April 7, the following gentlemen were unanimously elected for the ensuing season, viz: President, F. J. STEVENS; Manager, Joseph A. Polak; Assistant Manager, Peter Conlin; Secretary, William C. Miller; Treasurer, George W. Anderson.

THE AFRICAN CIVILIZATION SOCIETY.—A meeting of the colored people of this City and vicinity is to be held this evening at Zion Church, "to pass judgment on the African Colonization Society." It is asserted that this Society has similar aims with the American Colonization Society, and that as such it should be discouraged by the colored people.

Police Reports.

OVERTAKEN BY JUSTICE.

Charles Lamont, a Frenchman, who is under indictment at Newport, R. I., for keeping a disorderly house, and who forfeited his bail, by fleeing to this City, was apprehended on Tuesday at the instance of his surety, one Mr. Roach, and is now detained until a requisition for his return to Rhode Island is received from the Governor of that State.... Wm. Curry, a laborer, who had been admitted to bail in this City some months ago in the sum of $1,000 for trial on a charge of forgery, and who went to Savannah, Geo., to escape from justice, was arrested there a few days since and returned to this City. He is now confined in the Tombs awaiting trial.

CARRYING OFF COBBLE-STONES.

James Duffy and Wm. McManus were arrested yesterday morning by Officers Woolley and Cabre of the Twentieth Precinct, for carrying off paving-stones from Sixth-avenue, near Thirty-fifth-street. They stated that they had been carting away the stones for some time, under the direction of Thomas A. Dunn, formerly a member of the Board of Councilmen, in whose employ they were. Their excuse, however, was not deemed valid, and Justice QUACKENBUSH committed them for examination.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

EFFECT OF THE NEW POLICE LAW.

CHANGES IN THE POLICE COMMISSION—NEW OFFICES CREATED—WHO ARE TO BE THE LUCKY MEN?

The news of the passage of the amendments to the Metropolitan Police law created considerable stir at the Police Head-quarters yesterday. No little anxiety was manifested as to the probable policy of the new régime. As stated in the TIMES of yesterday, the new Board consists of but three members—Messrs. STILLMAN, STRANAHAN, ULLSHOFFER, BAILEY and the two Mayors being dropped; Mr. BOWEN retained, and Messrs. AMOS PILSBURY and JOHN G. BERGEN added. Mr. BOWEN has been Treasurer since the organization of the Board. Mr. PILSBURY is the well-known efficient Ex-General-Superintendent, and Mr. BERGEN is the gentleman who came within a few votes of representing Mr. SPINOLA's district in the State Senate. Messrs. BOWEN and BERGEN are staunch and strong Republicans, and Mr. PILSBURY is a Democrat, and no little interest is exhibited in the question as to whether they will all pull together.

In some quarters it is feared that the plan now is to run the Commission as a political machine for the Presidential campaign, making it a strict party affair, and ruthlessly sacrificing all but the true blue Republicans. In that case Mr. PILSBURY would, doubtless, be in a glorious minority. At all events the two Republicans, Messrs. BOWEN and BERGEN, will have the field all to themselves if they wish. By many it is believed that this will give Mr. BOWEN even more power than he has heretofore exercised, which has been by no means insignificant.

Some curiosity is manifested as to the probable course of Mr. PILSBURY with regard to the General Superintendent's powers and duties. Having held the place himself, and resigned in consequence of a lack of power, he will have no excuse for not realizing the responsibility of whoever is to be his successor. But there is one section of the law under which it is barely possible that Mr. PILSBURY may be his own successor. This is a clause providing that, "In the absence or disability of the Superintendent, or whenever a vacancy shall occur in that office, the President of the Board shall possess the powers and perform the duties of the office, with proportionate increase of pay during such continuance of duty." The law increases the Superintendent's salary to $5,000, while the Commissioners receive but $8 per diem. Now, if the Board should elect Mr. PILSBURY President, and decline to fill the vacancy existing in the office of General Superintendent, Mr. PILSBURY would be virtual Superintendent, and not present the novel spectacle of a man resigning an office worth $5,000 per annum to accept one worth $2,404, as he would should he not occupy that position.

It was the general opinion yesterday, however, that Deputy-Superintendent CARPENTER's chances were the best for the Superintendency. His long service in the old and new Departments, and his performance of the duties of the office pro tem., were considered as strengthening his claims sufficiently to make his selection a matter of great probability. The name of JOHN A. KENNEDY was, however, freely spoken of, as it has been, in fact, since Mr. PILSBURY's resignation.

The new law creates four Inspectors of Police, at a salary of $2,000 each, and changes the rank of the present Inspectors to that of Captains. The present Deputy Superintendents take rank as Inspectors, and the Captains will furnish the other two if they are appointed. It is believed, however, that the present two will suffice, unless some of the other counties which have not yet organized under the law should require the other two. The towns of Newtown, Flushing and Jamaica are now included in the Metropolitan Police District, but as they, like Richmond and Westchester Counties, will probably not want a Metropolitan Police, they will not be taxed for any of the expenses of the Commission. The names of Captains Leonard, Hart, Hopkins and Bennett have, however, been named in connection with the two new fat Inspectorships.

The law contemplates no changes in the clerical force of the department, but leaves that matter in charge of the Board. It is rumored that an effort will be made to displace the efficient chief clerk Mr. EMBREE, who has been in that position since the organization of the Commission. It is said that a discharged clerk—a relative of one of the new Commissioners, is quite anxious to fill the chief clerk's shoes. No charges have ever been preferred against Mr. EMBREE, and the talk concerning his removal is doubtless mere speculation.

Much good, it is expected, will result from the power of general police supervision over pawnbrokers, licensed venders, junk shops, cartmen, intelligence offices and auctioneers of watches and jewelry. Any one who reads the daily papers must see what an inestimable boon to poor persons who are oppressed in these places this police supervision will prove. It will operate as a summary cure for many at present incurable evils, among which Peter Funkism will be not the least important.

The sanitary features of the bill, under a vigilant administration such as that of Mr. PILSBURY, would no doubt be of infinite service. The supervision of ferry boats, manufactories, slaughter houses, tenement houses and unsafe buildings, with the summary methods of correcting abuses in them by the immediate action of a magistrate, it is thought will be of infinite service. The provision with regard to the cleaning of tenement houses will entail much duty upon the force; but, in the deplorable event of the failure of the Health bill, may do something toward regenerating those pest-houses of the poor.

The new Board will probably hold its first meeting in a day or two.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

DR. SAYRE APPOINTED AGENT.

In accordance with the following resolutions recently adopted by the Commissioners of Health, the Board of Health was convened yesterday for the first time in more than a year:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to convene the Board of Health at his earliest convenience.

Resolved, That the Commissioners of Health would respectfully recommend the appointment of Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, (Resident Physician) as Agent of the Board of Health, in place of Dr. Rockwell, whose term of office has expired.

An attempt was made to exclude reporters from the meeting, but, on motion of Alderman PECK, they were admitted.

Alderman GENET moved that Dr. Sayre be appointed Agent of the Board of Health, to receive the compensation to which he is legally entitled.

Alderman DARRAGH was willing to vote for the motion, but only on condition that Dr. Sayre receive the same compensation as his predecessor, and that his accounts be audited by the Commissioners of Health. He offered an amendment to that effect.

Alderman GENET opposed it, but it was formally adopted, by a vote of 18 to 8.

After a debate, which lasted nearly two hours, the nomination of Dr. Sayre was confirmed, under the operation of the previous question, by ayes, 18; noes, 9—Alderman GENET voting against his own resolution, in consequence of the amendment which had been made.

A motion, that the salary of Dr. Sayre be fixed at $2,500, was laid on the table—ayes, 19; noes, 8.

The regular meetings of the Board were fixed for the first Monday in each month until otherwise ordered. Adjourned.

COMMISSIONERS OF EMIGRATION.

NO SALARY FOR DR. JEROME—WEEKLY STATEMENT.

At a meeting of the Board, yesterday, the following resolution, introduced by Mr. Low, was adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Board, the Quarantine Hospital at Staten Island has been abolished by the acts of the Quarantine Commissioners in the removal of the patients from that institution in conformity with the law of the State, and in consequence thereof that the bill of the physician-in-chief for services never rendered ought not to be allowed by them, and that the said bill be referred to the Counsel of the Board with a copy of the resolutions, for his opinions thereon.

Dr. Jerome demands $1,250 salary for the past three months.

By the weekly statement it appears that 1,000 emigrants have arrived during the week; that there has been $2,168 received for commutation; 755 in the Ward's Island Hospitals, and the balance of the emigrant fund, $11,279 95.

STREET COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE.

ILLEGAL WORK.

A day or two since the Street Commissioner was notified that some parties were driving piles and making preparations to widen the end of the south side of Pier No. 13, North River, leased and occupied by the owners of the Virginia line of steamships. After vainly searching for some official authority for such a procedure, the Commissioner sent to the owners of the line to learn who ordered the work to be done. Not receiving a satisfactory reply, Mr. Earle, Superintendent of Wharves and Piers, yesterday delivered an official notice to the party in charge of the work to desist, but it was treated with contempt, and complaint having been at once made to the Corporation Attorney, the refractory dock-builder was arrested. Permission was, some time since, granted to Messrs. Cromwell, owners of the Savannah line of propellers, who lease the inside of the pier, to widen their portion, in order to accommodate their rapidly increasing freight business, but it was only extended to them, and the other parties not having received official sanction to their proceedings, are like to get into a quarrel with the City.

Fire upon a Packet-Ship.

PROBABLE DESTRUCTION OF THE "JACOB A. WESTERVELT" BY FIRE—EFFORTS OF THE HARBOR POLICE AND OF THE CREW OF THE BRAZILIAN CORVETTE TO SAVE HER—THE STEAM FIRE ENGINES PUT IN REQUISITION.

The ship Jacob A. Westervelt, Capt. WILLIAMS, belonging to H. L. RICH & Co.'s line of Liverpool packets, took fire yesterday, about 3 P. M., while lying at anchor in the North River, outward bound. The fire originated in the between decks, aft, and was caused by the upsetting of a lamp. The carpenter had gone below, in company with a boy, for the purpose of procuring stores for the steerage passengers, 18 in number, and while thus engaged the boy let the lamp fall; it broke, and set fire to the cotton stowed near by, and in a few minutes the smoke was so dense as to defy the exertions of the men sent below to extinguish the flames.

The Harbor Police steamboat Magnolia, with a squad of fifteen men on board, being near at hand, drawing shad poles, immediately repaired to the ship and removed the crew and passengers, nearly all the cabin furniture, ship's sails, some rigging, captain's sextants and other instruments.

The crews of Brazilian corvette Donna Isabel and of the United States revenue cutter McLane were early on board, and in a very short time cut adrift and sent down the sails of the burning vessel, which were brought ashore by the police-boat.

The Police steamer, while her men were at work on board the ship, was sent in search of assistance, and soon returned with the steam lighter Alpha, belonging to Mr. H. FORD, of Brooklyn. The steam tugs Mercury and Samson and the steam ferry boat Bedford, all of which have the Worthington pumps on board, were soon alongside and numerous streams of water were thrown into the ship. The anchors of the burning vessel having been slipped she was towed ashore, between Bedlow's and Gibbet Island, where she grounded head to the wind. This circumstance caused the fire to work forward slowly.

Capt. MERRITT, agent of the Board of Underwriters, with a gang of twenty men, were also busied on board breaking out cargo.

Fire Engine Company No. 20, GEORGE SEELY, foreman, was taken alongside the ship on the steam-tug James Howard, about 6 o'clock, and added another powerful stream to the many already on the fire; but, in spite of every exertion, the fire gained headway, and at 7½ o'clock the mizzen-mast fell over the stern. Upon application of the Board of Underwriters, Chief Engineer DECKER dispatched the steam fire-engine Manhattan, No. 8, to the burning ship. She was taken off by one of the Peck-slip Ferry boats, reached the vessel about 10 o'clock, and quickly got two heavy streams upon the flames, about midships, where they burned with great fury. The Union Ferry boats, the Croton Water boat, the Metropolis, Nassau and Gowanus were likewise sent off to aid in extinguishing the fire, and their Worthington pumps were put into operation, but notwithstanding their efforts to save the forward part of the ship, the fire had so increased that the mainmast went by the board at 10½ o'clock, and the foremast fell soon afterwards. At 12 o'clock the whole interior of the ship was a mass of fire, and all hopes of saving her hull had been abandoned, although the firemen are continuing their efforts in hope of saving a portion of the cotton and naval stores.

The vessel was scuttled where there is but sixteen feet of water at low tide. This was done at the request of one of the owners, but it proved a fatal mistake, as, had she been sunk at the point where she lay when the fire broke out, doubtless her hull would have been saved.

The passengers were landed at Pier No. 1, East River, at the expense of the owners of the ship, and were provided with lodgings at No. 2 Front-street.

Capt. AUSTIN, who had commanded the ship previously, and who was on board as a passenger, and in very ill health, was also brought ashore in a very exhausted condition.

Much praise is awarded to the crews of the Brazilian corvette, the cutter McClelland and the Harbor Police, for their exertions in saving the sails, rigging and cabin furniture. They manned the yards, unbent the sails, lowered them on deck, and performed the work with as much cheerfulness and celerity as though their own property was at stake.

A brutal assault was made upon JOHN ROSS, a member of Manhattan Company No. 8, and a clerk in the General Post office, who was running through Chatham-street to overtake his Company. When near the corner of Pearl street, his uniform attracted the attention of a gang of "Dead Rabbits," who are hangers-on of an Engine Company who entertain sentiments of envy toward the steam-engines, and one of the scoundrels dealt him a blow from behind with a heavy club, that laid him prostrate on the walk. His head was terribly gashed, but while still lying on the ground he drew a revolver, and discharged three shots at his assailants as they ran off, neither of which took effect, however. His wound was bound up at a neighboring drug-store, and he went on board the ship to work, but the pain under which he labored in consequence of his injury impelled him to return home.

The Jacob A. Westervelt, it will be remembered, was set on fire, supposed by an incendiary, some two years since, while lying at her dock in the East River, and a considerable portion of her after cabin and deck were destroyed. At that time she was only saved from total destruction by the timely arrival and assistance of the ferry boats of the Union Ferry Company, whose Worthington force-pumps were brought to play upon the fire.

The Jacob A. Westervelt was built in 1849, by JACOB A. WESTERVELT; rates A 1½, of 1,418 tons burden, and is owned by Messrs. H. L. RICH & Co., of this City. It is valued at $60,000, and is insured in this City. Her cargo consists of the following articles: 5,720 bushels corn in bulk; 1,672 do. in bags; 6,865 bushels wheat, 2,069 bales cotton, 450 tierces beef, 156 boxes bacon, 1,167 tierces lard, 120 casks rice, 234 hides, 715 barrels resin, 50 bales merchandise, 85 boxes do., 31 bales rags, 100 half chests tea, 7,200 staves. Total value, $175,000. Supposed to be mainly insured in Europe.

The Pacific University in Oregon.

MEETING ON ITS BEHALF AT REV. DR. ADAMS' CHURCH—REMARKS OF PRESIDENT MARSH.

On Tuesday evening, at the lecture-room of the Madison-avenue Church, (Dr. ADAMS',) Rev. S. H. MARSH, of Oregon, made some statements in regard to the country on the North Pacific coast, illustrative especially of the need of a College in that region. The section of Oregon and Washington west of the Cascade Mountains is the finest on the Pacific, and is capable of supporting a dense population, and possessed of the most important conditions of public prosperity. East of this section, beyond the Cascade Mountains, extending to the north far into British America, and eastward to the valley of the Missouri, the basin of the Columbia spreads out—a vast region, containing many sub-sections of divers characters, as respects soil and climate, but the most of it likely, at no distant day, to be brought into the service of man.

Through the Columbia and Missouri valleys is the great natural highway of transcontinental commerce. This is far the shortest and most available route for the Pacific Railroad, and here eventually a road will be built.

Through these valleys, from Puget Sound to the great lakes, is the only belt of habitable country extending from sea to sea.

Northern Oregon and Washington as the terminus of this, and connected by the Columbia with its 1,000 miles of navigable waters with the interior, must ultimately be the great maritime country on the Pacific. This section contains a population of at least 100,000, attracted from the Mississippi valley by the fineness of the climate and soil and the large allotments of land by the General Government.

In the midst of this country Mr. MARSH has been laboring for six years to lay the foundations of a College. He claims that the remoteness and isolation of the country demand it; while its future importance makes it eminently desirable that those Institutions that have so largely contributed to give character and influence for good to the Atlantic States should be early planted there. It seemed evident, from his statements, that an institution of learning was needed there; that, without it, we could hardly expect proper men to be found for the pulpit, the school and for public life.

The plan of the proposed College has already been matured, and has received the approval of prominent friends of education at the East, including clergymen, lawyers, and other public men of the highest standing. Such names as Edward Everett, Edwards A. Park, Robert C. Winthrop, Edward N. Kirk and George P. Marsh are a sufficient guaranty for the character of this enterprise. We are persuaded that the educational interests of Oregon imperatively demand just such an institution as the one which is here advocated, and that its establishment on firm foundations cannot be postponed without serious loss. Now, while society is in a formative state, this institution is needed, to give shape to its fluent elements. The people must be educated. They cannot be educated without a good and thorough system of education. There can be no good system of education without a head. The College is the head.

We heartily commend this institution to the liberality of those wise men, who are able to see the seeds of the future in the present, and are not afraid to "cast their bread upon the waters."

Methodist Episcopal Conferences.

MEETING OF THE NEW-YORK EAST CONFERENCE AT STAMFORD, CONN.—SHALL SLAVEHOLDERS BE EXCLUDED FROM THE CHURCH?—THE NEW-YORK CONFERENCE.

The New-York East Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church has just commenced its Twelfth Annual Session at Stamford, Connecticut. The business of the Conference will probably occupy it for a week or more. A larger number of delegates than usual are present, and the attendance of outsiders is also large, being drawn together by the exciting discussion touching the relations of the Church to the Slavery question, and the duty of the Church North towards the members of the Church in the Southern States, who are involved in the "guilt of Slavery." The business of electing seven delegates to the General Conference, which meets at Buffalo on the 1st of May, has been seized as the fitting occasion to decide whether the "General rule on Slavery" in the discipline shall be changed so as to exclude slaveholders from the Church.

Bishop SIMPSON presides. Upon the vote for Secretary the relative strength of the Anti-Slavery and Conservative parties in the Conference was called out. Rev. G. N. WOODRUFF, the Anti-Slavery candidate, was elected by 70 to 49 at the first vote, viva voce. Committees were then appointed upon Slavery, and the "examination of character."

In the afternoon, a meeting of the conservative members of the Conference was held, in which the policy of changing the General Rule was debated, the sentiment being strongly against that measure, as it would remove Slavery from the good influence of the Church.

NEW-YORK CONFERENCE.

The Seventy-first Annual Session of the New-York Methodist Episcopal Conference commenced in this City yesterday morning, at Dr. MCCLINTOCK's Church, in Fourth-avenue, Bishop SCOTT presiding. At the call of the roll about 250 members answered to their names—a much larger number than usual on the first day of the session. The Conference was opened by prayer from the Bishop, and, after administering the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, the body proceeded to the election of Secretaries. Rev. BENJ. GRIFFIN was chosen Chief Secretary, and Rev. H. H. FERGUSON and Rev. P. WARD Assistants. The usual Committees were then appointed, as follows:

On Public Worship—A. C. Foss, G. S. Hare, Chas. Steeling, S. F. Zimmerman, J. C. Deninger.

On Conference Stewards—M. D. C. Crawford, C. S. Brown, Jeremiah Milford, W. H. Evans.

On Necessitous Cases—B. M. Adams, J. T. Nichols, T. N. Lewis, Wm. Stevens, A. Ackerly, D. B. Faron, John Suchlen.

On Missions—The presiding Elders of the several Districts.

On Education—J. McClintock, S. D. Brown, G. D. Draper, Silas Fitch, Richard Wheatley, J. W. Beach, F. W. Dinger.

On Sunday Schools—J. G. L. McKeown, E. R. Keys, F. W. Chadwick, L. B. Andrus, J. M. Parker, D. L. Marks, C. Jost.

On Ministers—The Secretaries.

On Publication of Minutes—J. H. Lent.

On Memoirs—H. Lounsbury, J. N. Shaffer, Q. N. Lewis, M. D. C. Crawford.

On Tracts—John Poisal, A. V. Amerman, J. N. Shaffer, Jas. Burch, E. E. Pinney, D. W. C. Van Gaeberd, J. C. Lyon.

On Bible Cause—Jos. Holdich, L. H. King, J. B. Wakely.

On Temperance—B. M. Adams, W. Bloomer, G. D. Townsend, A. C. Morehouse, D. D. Lindsley, A. J. Fields, T. C. Gremm.

On Colonization—W. P. Strickland, D. D.; P. C. Oakley, W. H. Ferris.

On Lay Delegation—B. M. Adams, W. H. Ferris, Jno. Luckey.

Bishop SCOTT then briefly addressed the Conference, urging the importance of entering upon the discussion of the various subjects that might be brought before them in a spirit of conciliation, forbearance and brotherly love. Reports were then made upon the condition of superannuated and supernumerary clergymen. Rev. Dr. CRAWFORD was appointed to prepare obituary notices of Rev. THOS. DAVIS and Rev. W. J. FOSS. On motion, it was decided that the Conference should meet at 8½ o'clock A. M., and adjourn at 1 P. M., each day during the session. It is expected that the session will continue a week. The list of appointments of preachers will not be announced until the last day of the session. The annual sermon was preached in St. Paul's Church, Fourth-avenue, last evening by Rev. M. D. C. CRAWFORD, pastor of the Duane-street Church in this City. A large audience was in attendance.

The Tompkins Market.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BUILDING—THE DRILL-ROOMS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.

This handsome building is now nearly completed, the first coating of paint is dry, the floors are being laid, and on the 1st of May the stalls will be up, the butchers will be at work and the Seventh Regiment, before the 1st of June, will take possession of its new quarters. In dimensions this building is 181 feet nine inches long, by 100 feet wide. Of the three stories, in which it is divided by solid wrought-iron beams, three feet apart, running the whole width of the building, the first story is to be used as a market; the other two stories are to be exclusively dedicated to the use of "our gallant Seventh." The second story is divided into eleven company meeting or squad drill rooms, about 21 by 36 feet in dimensions, and two large company drill rooms; one 66 feet long by 36 wide, and the other 42 feet long by 36 wide. So there will be a room for each company, irrespective of the two large drill rooms, a room for the band and two rooms to spare, for meetings or any other purpose to which the Regiment may see fit to devote them.

The third story, the grand feature of this beautiful structure, forms one undivided regimental drill-room, without pillar, brace or obstruction of any kind, from wall to wall or floor to ceiling. In dimension, taking up as it does the entire area of the third story, it is, of course, nearly that of the building, 181 feet long, by 100 feet wide, and the roof being arched, the ceiling is very high, over 30 feet at the centre, making it the handsomest and largest drill-room in the United States. In addition to this, it is most amply lighted by 48 large, low windows, 6 feet wide at the base—16 of them on the east and west sides, and 8 on the front and back. The effect of such an immense, unobstructed surface of floor, high walls and the large windows, is very striking, and well worth seeing.

The whole building, with the exception of the floors, which are, of course, covered with planking, and the roof, which is supported by sixteen wooden truss beams, is built entirely of those fire-proof materials, iron and brick.

The ceilings of the first and second stories are made of arched brick-work, and the intervening spaces between the massive iron cross beams and the ceilings are concreted. The outer covering of the roof is galvanised iron, and the interior: the ceiling of the third story is to be plaster, put upon the truss-work supporting the roof.

The exterior of the building is as beautiful and pleasing to the eye as its dimensions are large and substantial. The style of the architecture is simple and appropriate. It will be a feature of great improvement to its locality, and a not unworthy neighbor of the Cooper Institute.

The little square or park, so long disfigured by the dilapidated sheds and stalls of the old market-place, is being laid out into grass plots, and its dirty surroundings are to be removed.

This handsome structure would, indeed, seem too stately for the main object of its erection, if our favorite was not to make its home there. It will cost, when completed, $230,000.

Republican Central Committee.

REMONSTRANCE AGAINST THE CITY RAILROAD BILL.

A large and spirited meeting of the Republican Central Committee was held last evening, D. D. P. MARSHALL, the First Vice-President, in the Chair. The evening was principally occupied in a warm discussion of the City Railroad bills passed by the Legislature.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted, and a Committee of five was appointed to convey the remonstrance to Governor MORGAN to-day.:

Whereas, The Republican Party, of our City, in common with most of our citizens, desire additional railroad accommodations, they most emphatically repudiate and remonstrate against the consummation of the recent acts for such purpose passed by the Senate and Assembly; for the reason that the granting of such valuable franchises to a band of monopolists, who are already in the enjoyment of vast special privileges in our City, and their being urged upon our legislators by an unscrupulous lobby, who have no interests to subserve but their own selfish purposes, to the injury of the best interests of our City, and for the further reason that a probable consolidation of these new roads with those now in existence would prevent, rather than make competition, and thus fasten upon tax-payers, householders and the laboring classes the most odious monopoly ever contemplated in the history of modern legislation; and,

Whereas, Our citizens have used every proper endeavor to procure the passage of judicious sanitary laws for the protection of the lives and property of our metropolis, and such reasonable amendments to our City Charter as the best financial interests of our City demand, and such modifications of our Almshouse regulations as would prevent frauds and a scandalous waste of our public money, all of which good and much-desired measures have been strangled, passed by and utterly ignored, that these iniquitous railroad schemes might be pushed to a consummation; we, therefore, as citizens, and in our capacity of representative Republicans, earnestly call upon his Excellency, Governor MORGAN, to fix by his veto his seal of condemnation upon them. And we further suggest to his Excellency that he recommend to the Legislature the passage of these bills, when so amended as to secure their construction, legislative control, and all proper protection to our citizens; and, at the same time, providing for the sale of the franchises at auction, under the direction of the Comptroller of the City, to such parties as will afford the greatest accommodations for the lowest fare, and thus prevent the accumulation of a fund by two cent contributions from the laboring masses, male and female, of our City for any purpose not contemplated by any honest, just and truly republican legislation.

A resolution was also adopted pledging the Republicans to remember at the polls those who vote for these measures.

Resolutions also were adopted deprecating the defeat of the Health bill in the Assembly.

The Strike at the Cathedral.

We have received a long statement from a committee of the stone-cutters on the new Cathedral, giving the reasons for their refusing to go on with their work under the contractor. Two dollars a day, they say, is the standard price during winter for their work; yet many of the best workmen among them could not earn over nine shillings. A committee accordingly waited upon Mr. JOYCE, the contractor, to ask an increase of wages. He replied that he made his own regulations and paid his own prices, and those who did not like them could leave. They accordingly withdrew on the 14th of February, and although five committees have since waited upon Mr. JOYCE, they have been able to make no arrangement with him. The Committee state that they ask nothing unreasonable, but merely fair wages for their work. They refer to Archbishop HUGHES' statement on laying the corner-stone of the building, that its erection would give employment to the poor at fair compensation, which has not been fulfilled. They deny that they have ever used or threatened personal violence to any parties on account of this strike, and declare that they have no sympathy with any such demonstrations. They proposed to leave the matter to a Committee of day's-men working in the shop—they to choose three and Mr. JOYCE two. He refused, and said he should manage his business to suit himself in spite of the workmen, the Archbishop or anybody else. The Committee conclude by denouncing his conduct as tyrannical and oppressive, and they appeal to the public to approve of the course they have adopted.

FEATHERS—Live Geese are in limited demand, at prices ranging from 44c.@50c. ⅌ ℔.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The market continues brisk and buoyant for State and Western Flour. The news by the Prince Albert and Anglo-Saxon, though being rather less encouraging, has not lessened the disposition to purchase. The demand has been very good, though perhaps less general than yesterday. The inquiry from the home trade has been fair, and with the calls from shippers and speculators, has enabled holders to sell freely at somewhat firmer prices. State brands continue in most favor. Superfine grades are quite scarce; extra are also less abundant. The reported sales reach 14,000 bbls.,—including Superfine State at $5 25@$5 32½, chiefly at $5 30; ordinary to choice extra State at $5 35@$5 50; chiefly at $5 40; inferior to choice superfine Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio at $5 25@$5 35; extra Iowa and Wisconsin at $5 45@$6 30; extra Illinois, Indiana and Michigan at $5 50@$6 40; inferior extra Ohio at $5 75@$5 85; round-hoop extra Ohio, shipping brands, at $5 90@$6 10 ⅌ bbl.

Southern Flour has been brisker and firmer. The sales, to-day, amount to 4,350 bbls., at $6 05@$6 25 for poor to good superfine Alexandria, Baltimore, &c.; and $6 30@$7 50 for fancy to choice extra brands, ⅌ bbl. Canadian is in demand, including inferior to very choice extra, chiefly at $5 65@$7 25 ⅌ bbl.; 1,000 bbls. were sold within the range. Rye Flour continues in request at $3 50@$4 35 for fine and superfine, ⅌ bbl. Corn Meal is salable and steady at $3 55@$3 65 for Jersey; $4@$4 05 for Brandywine, ⅌ bbl.

GRAIN—Wheat continues in lively request at improved prices. We have heard of sales, since our last, of 90,000 bushels, including White Canada on private terms: Canada Club at $1 25; good White Western at $1 60; ordinary Red do., (Winter,) at $1 40; ordinary to very superior Milwaukee Club at $1 25@1 30; ordinary to strictly prime Chicago Spring at $1 22@$1 25; and fair red Southern at $1 45 ⅌ bushel. Heavier sales could have been effected, were it not for the reluctance of holders to accept the prices offered by purchasers, and also the increased claims of shipowners for freight-room to British ports. Corn has been less sought after to-day, and prices closed in favor of buyers. The reported transactions comprised 23,500 bushels, chiefly at 75c. for mixed Western, 72c. for unsound white and yellow Southern, 76½c.@77½c. for sound yellow Southern, and 77c.@79c. for white Southern, ⅌ bushel. Rye has been sparingly purchased at 80c.@82c. ⅌ bushel. Barley has been in moderate request at former rates. Sales have been reported of 10,500 bushels State, part, if not all, at 80c. ⅌ bushel. Oats have been pretty actively inquired for, including Canada at 44½c.@45½c.; Western at 44c.@45c.; State at 45½c.@46c.; Jersey and Pennsylvania at 41c.@44c.; Southern at 39c.@42c. ⅌ bushel.

OILS—The demand has been pretty good for Crude Whale, chiefly at 45c.@46½c.; limited for Crude Sperm at $1 37@$1 40; and active for Linseed at 61c.@62c. ⅌ gallon. Other descriptions have been quiet. SANDY HOOK PILOTS SUSPENDED.—The Pilot Commissioners for the port of New-York have revoked the licenses heretofore held by the two pilots, Maginn and Martineau, (Enchantress, No. 18,) and suspended them from their functions as pilots out of this port.

The steamship Cahawba of the Havana and New-Orleans line, is now on the Great Balance dock for repairs. She will be refastened throughout, and have her bottom newly planked. The ship Sunshine is also on the Large Balance dock. She will be stripped, recaulked, newly coppered and refastened.

The origin of the fire on board of the bark Fanny Holmes (previously reported burnt at Apalachicola) is supposed to have been caused by one of the stevedores smoking a pipe, as one of the sailors saw one of them with a pipe in his hand before he went to bed, and as this stevedore has not since been seen, he must have fallen asleep with the pipe in his mouth, and has probably been burnt up in the vessel.
